I have been selling them for years all over this country and in other countries. Batliwalla's Ague Mixture has attained such a high reputation in the Bombay Druggist's market that if I agree to take only one Rupee per dozen less than the market rate, I can sell one thousand dozens of it in one day only I offer a challenge of Rs. 5,000 to any one who can disprove this statement.

BOMBAY GAZETTE EXCHANGE STERLING TABLE.

PRICE Rs. 2.

THE Bombay Gazette STERLING EXCHANGE TABLE is a small neatly bound BOOK covering all RATES in 32nds, both Sterling into Rupees and Rupees into Sterling, from 1s. 3 3-4d. to 1s. 4 23-32d. The Book will, it is found, supply a long-felt want, as since the stoppage of the free coinage of silver, rates have varied well within those given both for Demand and six months' Currency Bills, and the extensive and expensive tables in general use are now no longer required. The form adopted will also greatly facilitate the conversion of broken amounts.

The cheapest, best, and most convenient.—Vide Press notices.

"MAX" IN "CAPITAL" SAYS:—"To anyone in want of a most handy set of Exchange Tables, I would recommend the little volume published by The Bombay Gazette. Its range is from 1s. 3 3-4d. to 1s. 4 23-32d., advancing on the sterling side by 32nds up to £100,000, and on the rupee side from 1 pie up to Rs. 10,000,000. The calculations are carried out to two decimal places of the lowest coins. OR, if unwilling to burden himself with payments during his whole life, he may secure the same sum of Rs. 1,000 by twenty yearly payments of Rs. 36, being thus free of Premiums before age 50, this premium being about the same as most Offices require during the whole term of life,

VETARZO BRAIN AND NERVE FOOD.

This remarkable compound, the result of the latest developments and achievements of modern chemistry, pharmacology, and therapeutics, is without equal in all cases of defective nerve power, whether induced by worry, over-work, unhealthy climate, dissipation, excess, youthful imprudence, or other influences incidental to the wear and tear and haste or overstrain of modern life. Sleeplessness, tremblings, palpitation, nervous dyspepsia, low spirits, mental and bodily prostration, muscular and local weakness, general and nervous debility, faulty nutrition, premature decay or deficiency of the vital forces, impaired vitality, harassing dreams, night disturbances, sudden startings, dimness of sight, defective hearing, loss of memory, inability to perform the various duties of life, or to enjoy its pleasures, restlessness that can settle to nothing, irritability of temper, female complaints, hysteria, painful periods, backache, bearing down sensations, nervous headache, wasting diseases, night sweats, and all other phases of brain and nerve exhaustion, are successfully combated by this highly scientific preparation. Bracing up the system generally, it gives tone to the exhausted nerves, arrests all weakening wasting discharges, involuntary losses, &c.; restores the failing energies, and imparts new life and vigour to what had so recently seemed worn out, "used up," and valueless.

VETARZO BLOOD MEDICINE.

Never before was there anything like it, nor can its marvellous properties ever be equalled in all cases of poorness, impurity, or other imperfection of the blood from whatever cause arising. No sooner is it imbibed into the system than it permeates and penetrates to the minutest capillaries, overcoming and expelling the virus of disease wheresoever and in whatsoever form met with; removing all blotches, pimples, scurf, scurvy, scrofulous and glandular swellings, discolorations, roughness and unsightly patches, &c. Its effects are almost magical in the treatment of gout, rheumatism, sciatica, lumbago, pains and swellings of the joints, discharges, secondary symptoms, eczema, lepra, psoriasis, bad legs, bad breasts, abscesses, ulcers, sores, goitre or Derbyshire neck, it improves the general health, and quickly removes long-standing bronchitis, asthma, and hacking, straining, spasmodic cough, too often the precursor of consumption.

CAUTION.—Ask for "VETARZO Brain and Nerve Food," or VETARZO Blood Medicine," whichever is required, and see that you get them, as unprincipled vendors often try to palm off inferior preparations (usually their own manufacture), for the sake of extra profit. Price in England, 2/9 and 4/6. Every genuine bottle of these medicines bears the British Government Stamp with the words "VETARZO REMEDIES" impressed thereon, in white letters on a red ground, by direction of His Majesty's Hon. Commissioners. Registered Trade Mark "VETARZO." Legal proceedings will be taken against persons pirating.

COMMON SENSE IN A NUTSHELL.—A new medical work on the causes and most scientific and effectual means of self-cure ever discovered for nervous exhaustion, depression of spirits, want of zest and energy, &c., with practical observations on marriage and full directions for removing certain disqualifications that destroy the happiness of wedded life. It also treats on urinary derangements, [illegible]

A BROKEN-DOWN SYSTEM.

This is a condition (or disease) to which doctors give many names, but which few of them really understand. It is simply weakness—a break-down, as it were, of the vital forces that sustain the system. No matter what may be its causes (for they are almost numberless), its symptoms are much the same; the more prominent being sleeplessness, sense of prostration or weariness, depression of spirits and want of energy for all the ordinary affairs of life. Now, what alone is absolutely essential in all such cases is increased vitality—vigour—

VITAL STRENGTH & ENERGY

to throw off these morbid feelings, and experience proves that as night succeeds the day this may be more certainly secured by a course of the celebrated life-reviving tonic than by any other known combination. So surely as it is taken in accordance with the printed directions accompanying it, will the shattered health be restored, and a new existence imparted in place of what had so lately seemed worn-out, "used up," and valueless. This wonderful restorative is purely vegetable and innocuous, is agreeable to the taste—suitable for all constitutions and conditions, in either sex; and it is difficult to imagine a case of disease or derangement, whose main features are [illegible] that will not be speedily and permanently benefited by this never-failing recuperative essence, which is destined to cast into oblivion everything that had preceded it for this wide-spread and numerous class of human ailments.

THE EXPIRING LAMP OF LIFE LIGHTED UP AFRESH,

THERAPION is sold by the principal Chemists throughout the world. Price in England, 2/9 and 4/6. Purchasers should see that the word "THERAPION" appears on British Government Stamp (in white letters on a red ground) affixed to every package by order of His Majesty's Hon. Commissioners, and without which it is a forgery.

Thousands of wonderful cures have been effected by it.

TRIED MANY THINGS WITHOUT BENEFIT UNTIL I TOOK CLARKE'S BLOOD MIXTURE.

Mr. F. E. Lewis, 48, Bridge Street Row, Chester writes:—"Just a line in favour of 'Clarke's Blood Mixture.' I had eczema for seven months, and tried many things without benefit until I took your remedy. After the eighth bottle I was quite well again. Please accept this letter as a token of gratitude to your wonderful 'Clarke's Blood Mixture.'"—June 13, 1903.

IMPURITIES IN THE BLOOD.—"We have seen hosts of letters from all sorts and conditions of people, in which the writers acknowledge the benefit they have received from Clarke's Blood Mixture, which as a curative agent cannot be too highly estimated, since it cleanses and clears the blood from all impurities, and restores it to its normal condition." This is a good testimonial from the Family Doctor, the popular medical weekly, which goes on further to say: "It is certainly the finest blood purifier that science and skill have brought to light, and we can with the utmost confidence recommend it to our subscribers and the public generally."

WORLD-FAMED
GUTTÆ VITÆ
Or, LIFE DROPS.
The Great European Remedy for Nervous and Functional Exhaustion.

This remarkable rejuvenating essence strengthens the vitality of the whole system, gives energy to the muscles, and speedily restores the impaired powers of life, imparting strength and manly vigour to the most debilitated and worn out constitution. Those who suffer from Premature Decay, or deficiency of the Vital Forces, owing to dissipation, worry, overwork, excesses, or any other cause, will find this medicine just what they require. Equally adapted for the studious and sedentary; the aged and infirm; the nervous and debilitated; as also for delicate females and weakly children. All sufferers from loss of appetite, nervous headache, lassitude, and despondency—too often accompanied with suicidal thoughts—should make immediate and fair unprejudiced trial of this wonderful medicine, which is daily effecting the most remarkable cures in patients who had been given up by the Faculty as incurable, and left to drag out the remainder of their existence a misery to themselves, and a continual anxiety to their friends. In all cases of nervous and functional debility, epilepsy, [illegible] and poorness of the blood, aversion to and incapacity for society, study, or business, giddiness, disturbed [illegible] dreams, loss of memory, and other symptoms, the result of self-acquired ailments that embitter and shorten life, it is truly unrivalled. To married persons especially, this preparation will prove invaluable, giving strength and vigour in place of lassitude and incompetency. Price 11s., or four times that quantity, 33s. per bottle.

Dr. DE ROOS' COMPOUND RENAL PILLS, for Pains in the Back, Gravel, Lumbago, Gout, Rheumatism, Diabetes, and all Kidney Affections; weakness across the loins, Sandy or other Deposits, Discharges, and Diseases of the Urinary Organs generally. Price 2s. 9d.

Dr. DE ROOS' VEGETABLE LIFE PILLS, for Indigestion, Biliousness, and all disorders of the Liver, Stomach, and Bowels; whilst as a universal family medicine for both sexes, and all ages, they are unequalled. 13½d. and 2s. 9d. per Box.

Dr. DE ROOS' PILE AND FISTULA PILLS, the only reliable remedy for these annoying and painful ailments. The first dose gives relief, and in all ordinary cases a few days only are necessary to effect a cure. Price 2s. 9d. per Box.

Purchasers are particularly requested to see that every package of Dr. DE ROOS' Medicines bears the British Government Stamp, with the words, "WALTER DE ROOS. LONDON," impressed thereon in white letters on a red ground, and refuse worthless imitations frequently put forward by unscrupulous vendors for the sake of extra profit.

● DEBILITATED and NERVOUS SUFFERERS should read the "Medical Adviser," by Dr. DE ROOS, on the secret causes of nervous debility, impotency, depression of spirits, and confirmed melancholy. Price 1s., post free from Mr. LAWES, Medical Publisher, 14 Hand Court, Holborn, London, W.C., or obtainable of the Agents for Dr. DE ROOS' Medicines.

LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL

THE PUREST. THE MOST PALATABLE. THE MOST DIGESTIBLE. THE MOST EFFICACIOUS.

Incontestably proved by Forty Years' Medical Experience to be The only Cod Liver Oil which produces the full curative effects in CONSUMPTION AND DISEASES OF THE CHEST, THROAT AFFECTIONS, GENERAL DEBILITY, DISEASES OF THE SKIN, WASTING DISEASES OF CHILDREN, RICKETS, AND ALL SCROFULOUS DISORDERS.

SELECT MEDICAL OPINIONS.

SIR G. DUNCAN GIBB, Bart., M.D.,
Physician to the Westminster Hospital.

"The value of DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL as a therapeutic agent in a number of diseases, chiefly of an exhaustive character, has been admitted by the world of medicine; but, in addition, I have found it a remedy of great power in the treatment of many Affections of the Throat and Larynx, especially in Consumption of the latter, where it will sustain life when everything else fails."

DR. SINCLAIR COGHILL,
Physician to the Royal National Hospital for Consumption, Ventnor.

"I have convinced myself that in Tubercular and the various forms of Strumous Disease, DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL possesses greater therapeutic efficacy than any other Cod Liver Oil with which I am acquainted. It was especially noted, in a large number of cases in which the patients protested they had never been able to retain or digest other Cod Liver Oil, that DR. DE JONGH'S OIL was not only tolerated, but taken readily, and with marked benefit."

JOSEPH J. POPE, Esq., M.R.C.S.,
Late Staff Surgeon, Army, Professor of Hygiene, Birkbeck Institution, London.

"I found during my Indian experience that the worth and character of DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL remained unchanged by tropical heat or foreign climate, and it was, from its uniformity of character, particularly adapted for long-continued administration. The value of 'hydro-carbons' in all debilitated states of the system is now becoming thoroughly recognized; and it is, without doubt, from the animal oils and fats, rather than from their vegetable substitutes, that we may hope to derive the surest benefit. The Oil of DR. DE JONGH places in everyone's reach a reliable and valuable remedy, one that cannot be too widely recognized."

Author of "Handbook for the Nursery."

"DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL is almost a specific in many of the Diseases peculiar to Infancy and Childhood, and I have seen marked benefit produced by its use. Patients prefer it to the Pale Oils, and are able to retain it more comfortably."

A COLONIAL CLERGYMAN

Follows Popular Custom—

A significant sign of the times is the cordial manner in which responsible people of all creeds and conditions support the views which are ably set forth below by the Rev. Geo. B. Taylor, a Colonial Clergyman. In words of unstinted praise this gentleman says emphatically that all the social, mental and ecclesiastical work of his position is only made possible by periodical doses of Phosferine, which repairs the Nervous Waste his system suffers under West Indian conditions of life. Men of Intellect, and Men of Muscle alike, vouch for the amazing restorative power of Phosferine in all cases of Nerve Disorder or Irregularities, and with Rulers and People of many lands, it is an established and Popular Custom to rebuild and re-inforce the Nervous System with a course of Phosferine.

Which He Strongly Supports.

Rev. Geo. B. Taylor, St. Luke's Parsonage, Barbados, writes:—"I have, for a considerable time past, used your Phosferine with very great benefit to mind and body, and especially is this the case on Sundays, when I always have three Services and Sunday School, and frequently Open-air Services as well, with Baptism twice a month, besides a good deal of work during the week, such as instructing in Schools, Conducting Mission Services in School Houses, Regular Weekly Services and Daily Services, besides a good deal of other duties which fall to the Pastor of a large Congregation. I always take two or more doses of Phosferine on Sunday and on other days when I have any mental work to do, and particularly when I have any heavy brain work to discharge, I always fortify myself with your world renowned Tonic, and I assure you I have often been considerably assisted in my Sermons—both the preparation and delivery—and in the nervous strain which a long day's work entails. I may add that I always recommend it to my friends. Acting on my advice a lady tried it a short time ago who suffered from sleeplessness and nervous debility, and she informs me that she has derived considerable benefit from it."—Oct. 8, 1904

The Royal Example.

Phosferine is used by the Royal Families of Europe, which, in plain language means that every user of Phosferine knows and feels that the Tonic is commended by the greatest living physicians

EADE'S
GOUT and RHEUMATIC PILLS,
THE CURE FOR
GOUT AND RHEUMATISM.

THE never-failing effects of EADE'S GOUT and RHEUMATIC PILLS in curing these distressingly painful diseases, have secured to them a celebrity unequalled by any medicine of past or present times. They not only give relief in a few hours where the patient has been driven almost to madness by the horrible excruciating tortures of this disease, but restore to perfect health in an inconceivably short space of time—in most cases giving relief from the intolerable pain in one or two hours; one bottle will frequently carry off the attack in two or three days, even when the patient has kept his bed for as many weeks, and sometimes months.

The authenticated proofs of decided approbation, sent unsolicited to the Proprietor, from all parts of the kingdom and from all classes of society, with a rapidly increasing sale, and a demand for them at home and abroad unparalleled fully warrants the assurance that no person subject to these disorders will, after a trial, be without them.

BOMBAY, FRIDAY, Nov. 17.

THE Royal visit came to a close on Tuesday evening, and during Monday and Tuesday there was quite a holiday feeling in Bombay. The arrival and departure of the Viceroys, at the end of the week, has also to some extent interrupted business in the City.

The chief event of the week has been the publication of the Washington Bureau Report and of Messrs. Neills estimate of the cotton crop in the United States. So much has lately been heard of the great damage, and the largely reduced estimates of the crop that these belated reports seem to have taken the whole trade by surprise. The Bears are now having their turn in the market, in which the Bulls have, during, the past few weeks, been entirely predominant.

The tone of the Oilseed markets has been firm throughout the week, but prices are remaining at about our last mail quotations. The long cessation of rain throughout the growing districts is not favourable for the Rabi crops, and dealers are not selling freely for far forward deliveries. The home markets are also firm.

The tone of our local money market remains easy, and funds are still ample for the present demand. Cotton supplies are increasing up-country, and money will soon be wanted for moving this important crop. Rupee paper has been steady, while the demand for our local mill shares is still fairly heavy. Sterling exchange remains steady, at last mail quotations.

COTTON.

A sharp reaction has taken place during the past week, aggravated to some extent by the Official Bureau report published in Washington on the 10th instant, giving the average condition of the 11 Cotton States as 68·8 per cent. against 71·2 per cent at the end of September, and later on by Messrs. Neill Brothers' estimate of 11 1/2 million bales. This is practically the largest estimate published of this season's crop, and would tend to the belief that the serious damage to the plants, of which so much has lately been heard was much exaggerated by the Bulls and holders of cotton. Be that as it may the recent rise brought out a strong demand for the staple from Lancashire and elsewhere, which has largely fallen away since the reaction set in. However a set back in prices was quite due, and when the trade has recovered from the bearish advices received this work, a renewed demand will doubtless arise The trade in Cotton goods is in a very flourishing condition and the very low range of values which were current in the early months of the year are scarcely likely to be repeated this season, unless something very unforeseen occurs.

In following are the daily closing quotations for Spot Middling Americans in Liverpool and New York, since our last mail report:

The following are the daily closing quotations for futures, Liverpool, Dec.-Jan., and New York December:

	Liverpool.	New York.

"	14th...5·80	10·68
"	15th...5·82	10·53
"	16th...5·76	10·68

In New Orleans the price of spot has declined to 11 1-16 cents.

In our local market prices have also given way in sympathy with advices from the other side. The enquiry from exporters is checked and this, in conjunction with the holiday feeling in Bombay in the early part of the week, has considerably reduced the turnover. Receipts into the up-country stations are increasing daily and the quality is very satisfactory. The weather conditions, however, are not as propitious as they might be, and we hear of insufficient dew-fall at night, and great heat during the day, causing a decrease in the production of the plants. There is no doubt that the sudden cessation of rain in September and the total absence of any October rain, has caused some diminution of the bumper crops that promised earlier in the season. However, though estimates are smaller, it is still too early to speak of any great damage having been done. A moderate rainfall in December would considerably increase the quantity, though it would spoil the fine quality of the cotton now coming to market. The weather has been cloudy lately over a large portion of the country, though no rain is reported except in the extreme South of the Peninsula.

A RICH PRESENT TO H. R. H. THE PRINCESS OF WALES.

AT the greeting of the native ladies of Bombay to Her Royal Highness the Princess of Wales, an album, containing fourteen beautifully hand painted portraits from life of the native ladies of different castes and creeds of Bombay, with the welcoming address in different languages was presented to Her Royal Highness in the Town Hall, [illegible] days ago, by the native ladies of our city. The covers of the album are in silver, the front being richly embossed in deep relief depicting the scene of native ladies welcoming the Princess in their typically native fashion. Her Royal Highness is shown standing on a dais with her two Ladies-in-Waiting behind, ready to be received by the Parsee ladies followed by the Hindu and the Mahomedan ladies, who are shown in their native costumes, in attitudes quite characteristic to their customs and manners. On the left-hand top corner of the cover is to be seen the s.s. "Renown" as entering the Bombay harbour, while the Town Hall of Bombay occupies the right-hand top-corner. The lower corners bear the Royal Coat-of-Arms in gold; the borders being engraved with date-trees and bamboo-trees. The album opens with marble like frontispieces, followed by the address of welcome in English, bordered with roses, thistles, shamrocks and lotus flowers clinging round the Union Jack and the crest of the Prince of Wales. Then follow a series of colour portraits of different native ladies, in their costumes, engaged in home duties. A Hindu Brahmin lady, is shown standing by her toilet box, dressing her hair, in her room. Next comes a Khoja lady, who is depicted sitting p[illegible]ing her bracelets, her jewel-box lying open in front of her. The next picture is of a modern Parsee lady, showing the latest in fashions, with a book in her hand, emblem of advancement and learning going into the garden to read. This is a very attractive picture and has been greatly admired. A Gujrati translation of the address of welcome is then seen, bordered with interesting scenes of Gujarat and its well-known temples. The next turning of the page brings a typical Parbhoo lady, engaged in "Pooja" and this is followed by the portrait of a Memon Lady, weaving silk-borders on a native-wheel. Then follows the Marathi translation of the address bordered with the Goddess of Fortune and other religious emblems of the Hindus. A Marathi Princess is then [illegible] shown engaged in "Pooja-Patri." The page following, reveals the portrait of a Moosalman Lady of Surat doing "pan-supari." In the order of things, follows the Urdu translation of the Address which is tastefully bordered with crescent stars, the Taj-Mahal and the Jooma Masjid also being shown. Next is a Bhatia Lady grinding corn, followed by the portrait of a Bhora Lady. A Canarese translation of the address on the next page is bordered by scenes from the Southern Mahratta country. Then come a Bania Lady doing "Pooja", a Tailangee Lady doing "chawk.", followed by a Persian translation of the address. Portraits of Marwaran and Mangolian Ladies are followed by one of an ancient Parsee lady, who is shown worshipping the fire. Some few pages are devoted to the signature of the members of the Executive and General Committees for the reception of H. R. H. the Princess of Wales, by the native ladies of Bombay. The album closes with thick cover in solid silver engraved with the words "Reminiscences of Bombay, 1905", with borders artistically engraven with thistles and the Royal crests. The album is open to view to the public to-day at the Alexandra Institute, Fort, where it is kindly shown and explained by Miss Serin M. Cursetjee.

THE SUPPLY OF OFFICERS.

One would suppose, says the "Pioneer," that the Army authorities in England must be sufficiently impressed by this time with the difficulty of procuring a good supply of young officers: but they continually act as if the object was to make the service more unpopular. A new affliction has been added to the lot of the subaltern by the publication, in the newspapers of professional reports which hold up his deficiencies to the contemplation of the crowd, already quite sufficiently disposed to accept the legend that he is an incompetent loafer. Thus in the "Times" abstract of the memorandum issued by Sir John French on the work of the Aldershot Army corps during the past season, we read that in conclusion after some severe strictures on junior officers the General says:—We cannot impress too firmly on the minds of all ranks that war to-day is a science demanding the closest thought and study and it is because this great truth is not sufficiently realised that we often find unpardonable ignorance displayed as to the general sense upon which operations are conducted." Other papers are less reticent, the "Daily Mail" reporting the General's conclusions thus:—"I have repeatedly called attention to the ignorance which has been sometimes displayed by junior officers in the nature of the operations which were being carried on around them I now confidently call upon divisional, brigade, and regimental commanders to correct this, and to see that systematic instruction in the higher branches of the art of war is carried on with the utmost energy and perseverance throughout all units of the army corps. I have heard some few young officers display the most lamentable ignorance as to what is going on around them." "Unpardonable ignorance" is a very strong expression, which is likely to efface in the minds of many readers all that Sir John French has been previously saying about the "extraordinary progress" made during the year by the command in general efficiency, and the tributes he pays to General and the Commanding Officers for their untiring energy and to those under them for the zeal with which they have responded to their calls. Things, it is clear, are not in fact going at all badly in the Aldershot command. Then why, one would ask this terrific onslaught on the junior officers for their shortcomings in matters of theory? Naturally a General Officer is not only free but is bound to express his unreserved opinions both to those below him and to the authorities at the heads of the service. But what can be gained by laying a public humiliation on a class of officers because some of them do not come up to the standard in a part of their business which is not to them a primary concern? Would it be allowed for a moment by the Admiralty in the case of the Navy? It is a separate question whether Sir John French has not been taking an extreme view of the defect he complains of. Our Army News correspondent has pointed out that owing to the Japanese secrecy that was observed this year as to the objects of movement ordered, those outside the staff were carefully excluded from knowing anything in a general way of what they were about. If so it becomes doubly hard to blame them But in any case Mr. Arnold-Forster and his colleagues in the Army Council have much to answer for in this new departure which will benefit neither the public nor the service. It must be disheartening and disgusting to a set of men who have admittedly worked with zeal at their immediate duties to find themselves held up to public reproach for failure in the higher branches of their profession which their very increase of work has given them less opportunity to study.

THREAD CEREMONY IN THE PETIT FAMILY.—ON Monday last, Miss Heerabai, the eldest daughter of Mr. Jahangir Bomanji Petit was invested with the sacred thread at Chateau Petit the residence of her grand-father Mr. Bomanji Petit at Warden Road. The ceremony was performed by Dastur Kekhushru Jamasetjee, with the aid of Naib Dastur Rustamji Edulji Sanjana, in the presence of a large gathering of European and native ladies and gentlemen invited for the occasion. The presents received were numerous and costly valued at over a quarter of a lakh of Rupees. After the ceremony was over the Parsee guests sat down to dinner, while the European ladies and gentlemen present were conducted to the costly refreshments provided for them. A much larger stream of Parsee guests poured in at night, to partake of the host's unstinted hospitality. The amusements provided were as varied as they were costly. A band kept playing on the premises till late in the night. A part of the premises was set apart for the performance of a native play "Juddin Jugda" a comical presentment of some of the phases of the question of Parsee Proselytism. There was also a nauch-party. At night when the interior and exterior illuminations were complete the superb structure wore much the look of a fairyfabric. The surroundings appeared bathed in a mellow light that pleased without dazzling and the general effect produced was altogether very impressive. Benevolence went hand in hand with conviviality and amid the profuse gaieties of the day the claims of general humanity were not disregarded. A contribution of Rs. 5,000 by Mr Bomanji Dinshaw Petit to the Parsee General Hospital Scheme was announced at the end of the investiture ceremony, as also a donation of an identical amount by Mr Jehangir Bomanji Petit for providing a Library and Public Hall at Billimora. The gathering dispersed late after midnight.

LORD CURZON'S FAREWELL.

LORD CURZON'S valedictory speech at the Byculla Club on Thursday night was a masterpiece of oratory. It was a speech to which his Excellency had devoted much care and attention and one of which every word had been carefully weighed beforehand. In its delivery his voice betrayed no sign of the recent indisposition which incapacitated his Excellency from speaking, and though his Excellency spoke with the text of his oration before him he had little occasion to refer to it. A perfect elocutionist, a master of all the tricks of light and shade, he speaker rivetted the attention of his audience for over an hour and earned their enthusiastic applause. No one who had the privilege of hearing him could fail to be impressed even though they entertained the feeling that his observations were addressed not so much to them as to the enormous number of readers for whose benefit they were wired throughout the length and breadth of the land. We remember on a former occasion on which Lord Curzon addressed an audience in Bombay he reminded his hearers that the time for rejoicing was not when a man putteth on his armour, but when he taketh it off, and he added: "I shall be tenfold better pleased if when I weigh anchor from these shores and when all eyes are turned towards my successor, any of you who are now present can come forward truthfully to testify that during my time I have done something, if it even be but little, for this land, which next to my own country, is nearest to my heart." We do not suppose there is anyone in the whole of this vast dependency who will deny his Excellency that testimony. They may accept his assurance that in the course of his administration he has endeavoured to fight for the right, to abhor the imperfect, the unjust and the mean, to swerve neither to the right hand nor to the left. We believe that he has been actuated by a sincere desire to serve the country faithfully and well and, though some of his work may soon be undone, a solid residuum will remain and take its place as a part of Indian politics and Indian society.

That Lord Curzon had a lofty conception of the importance of the Viceregal position is universally conceded. To hold the office was the dream of his youth, his greatest ambition. And now that after having held it for seven long years he resigns he tells us that laborious as it was for him, he still regards it as the noblest office in the gift of the British Crown, that the man who does not thrill upon receiving it with a sense of pride and of its grave responsibility is not fit to be an Englishman. He still adheres to the belief that the man who holds the office with devotion and who knows how to wield the power wisely and well, as so many great men have done, can exercise a greater influence upon the destinies of a larger number of his fellow-creatures than any other head of an administration in the universe. And consistently with that idea Lord Curzon has deprecated what he has believed to be attempts to attenuate its influence, to diminish its privileges and lower its prestige. He has further endeavoured to let the people know and understand whatever measures he has taken in hand, and to win their confidence. Whether successful in the full measure he desired, or not, it cannot be gainsaid that he based his policy on the main principles, which he recounted on Thursday evening, and adhered to those principles in whatsoever he undertook. He recognised that for every department of the State and for every branch of the administration there must be a policy instead of no policy, a method of treating the subject in question which was based upon accepted premises, either of reasoning or experience, laid down in clear language, understood by the officers who have to apply it and intelligible to the people to whom it is applied. Amid the numerous races and creeds, of which he has sought to understand the needs and to espouse the interests of each, he claims to have kept the ryot in view, not perhaps in the opinion of us all to the extent he believes, but Lord Curzon assures us that he never lost sight of him in any way, that he thinks the poor have found in him their best friend. The assurance is welcome, for we fear that the ryot and the poor have not always been able to appreciate that friendship or the method in which it was manifested towards them.

Lord Curzon, with the frankness and outspokenness which have characterised his actions, tells us, in pretty much the same words that he rejoices under the consciousness of work well done. It is refreshing to find a man, in whatever position in life bidding farewell to this country in the manner in which his Excellency does, without the slightest pang of remorse. Regret, he doubtless feels, that he must leave the country to which he is attached and the office which is so in keeping with his tastes and inclinations and the natural bent of his ideas. But his Excellency pleads guilty to no charge of neglect, acknowledges no defeat and throws down the gauntlet to the historian of the future who shall write his biography. Even in regard to the partition of Bengal he ha[illegible] will one day bless his name and he leaves as firmly persuaded that we all know that "no Englishmen every stepped on to the shores of India who had a more passionate devotion for the country than he who is now bidding it farewell." We fully believe that such is the case, and it will be gratifying to his countless admirers to gather from his Excellency's speech that he does not mean to let his interest in India decline. Lord Curzon has still a great career before him, and before long, doubtless, he will reappear in the councils of the nation and will enlighten our countrymen as to the needs of the Empire in which he has laboured so assiduously. That he will soon take up parliamentary duties goes without saying and, if at an early date we do not see him holding high office, it will not be the fault of the party which sent him out and which finally refused to stand by him. That Lord Curzon's ultimate premiership may be as brilliant as his viceroyalty, is a wish in which both Englishman and native will join.

A NATIVE APPRECIATION. THE volume issued by Syed Sirdar Ali Khan under the title of "Lord Curzon's Administration of India: What he promised; what he performed" is of especial interest to-day, which marks the actual laying down of the reins of office and a temporary retirement into private life, as giving an Indian impression of the past seven years. "What," says the author "in my opinion, has tended most to enlist the sympathies of most men towards Lord Curzon's administration is that for whatever he did, he always gave good reasons. Every argument was answered and noticed not always favourably, that of course it is it is impossible to expect, but during the last seven years we have all been witnesses of the fact that our Viceroy condescended to argue with us even on questions of the very highest policy." He goes on to quote instances many of which appear to have been but the formal performance of duty. Recapitulating the familiar story of his life at Eton, Balliol and his subsequent travels until his appointment and arrival in India as Viceroy, the author comes to the twelve promises made after two years of office: (1) A stable frontier policy; (2) Creation of a new Frontier Province; (3) A reform of the transfer and leave rules in the Indian Civil Service; (4) A diminution of report writing; (5) A stable rate of exchange in the currency system; (6) Encouragment of irrigation; (7) Increase of railways; (8) A cure for agricultural indebtedness; (9) Reduction of the telegraph rate between India and Europe; (10) Preservation of archæological remains; (11) Educational reform; and (12) Police reform. There can be no doubt of the energy which he has expended upon this programme, and the Sirdar points out that the two years spent in formulating it can be deemed a guarantee that it was not hastily conceived. Lord Curzon himself has given us his thoughts as he looks back, and the volume under review in great measure takes a similar view. We may take it that the words of the Sirdar represent the feelings of a section of the community just as other views expressed in different channels equally represent another section and, as such, readers will accept the conclusion arrived at on various points. The Sirdar is frank and owns that he may be misconstrued in his appreciation of the Viceroy's work, but the critical scrutiny to which each topic is subjected, before judgment is passed, is sufficient guarantee that the ultimate conclusions are sincere. "Where so many drastic reforms were required" he says "and the sequel will show how drastic some of them had to be, it was not to be supposed that everybody would be pleased. But others, who are prepared to give him credit for honesty of purpose and have been witnesses of the thoroughness of his research, are willing to believe that what has been resolved upon, in the best interests of the country and of the people, will ultimately conduce to their well-being." Specifying he says "There are unfortunately people in India who denounce the Tibetan expedition as one of needless aggression, but I do not think that this is a feeling shared by Mahomedans at all events. It has never been one of the traditions of our race that the ruler of a great country should tamely suffer an indignity or an affront." The Sirdar even agrees with the Partition of Bengal and adduces sound arguments in reply to some of the more flimsy pretexts on which the agitation is based. He evidently has little love for the Bengali and his aspirations, and less sympathy with his methods. On the subject of educational reform he says: "I will not pretend to say—and probably Lord Curzon would himself hesitate—that every thing is perfect." This is one of the few acknowledgements in the book that things might have been done otherwise, but it is evident from the commencement that the writer set out to bless, and that being recognised, its relative value can be deducted from the whole leaving, as we have said before, an interesting impression, from the Mahomedan point of view on a subject which is at present occupying the mind of the whole of India.

OUR NEW VICEROY. THE circumstances attending the arrival of Lord Minto are to be regretted. It is not fitting that a new Viceroy should land in such an unceremonious manner as the new Head of the Government did last evening and receive the customary Municipal address in an unorthodox manner. But we need not take it as an ill omen. In his speech on Thursday night Lord Curzon referred to his successor as a life-long friend, a Viceroy of ripe experience, of a strong sense of duty, of sound judgment and of great personal charm. He further expressed a wish that the rough seas through which he (Lord Curzon) had ridden might leave smooth waters in which his keel may glide, and from the depth of his heart he wished his successor a tranquil and triumphant viceroyalty. It was a kindly wish and one, we hope and trust will be realised. Lord Minto is spoken of most appreciatively by Canadians who know him as Governor-General in the Dominion. When he relinquished office there his Excellency was made the object of a series of demonstrations of kindly feeling in nearly all the large centres of the Dominion, which proved how sincerely cordial are the relations which have been established between themselves and the Canadian people of all races, religious denominations, and political parties. It was admitted on all hands in Canada that his Excellency had done well and acceptably the work given to his hands, and had a right to receive not only the approbation of the Sovereign whom he had represented, but of the English people. During his term of office Lord Minto had to deal with a number of questions of wide imperial interest, requiring delicate and diplomatic treatment, and it is recorded that he held a just balance between widely divergent conceptions of duty and public policy, allayed irritation and minimised the evil results of hasty and inconsiderate action. Lord Minto's action in these cases earned public approval and his experiences altogether were such as will qualify him for the responsible position he takes upon himself to-day.

STANDARD TIME. As we anticipated Government has set aside the representations of the native community and directed that the fantastic method of counting the hours, called "Standard Time," shall be adopted in all Government institutions and public offices in Bombay from 1st January next. [illegible] native town, to all mills and factories, clubs and private residences, besides Government offices and institutions but the Bombay Government "feels little doubt that it will very soon be accepted by the native community as it has been throughout the rest of India."

LORD MINTO landed in Bombay last evening, informally.

THE defence of India as related to the Japanese Alliance is a favourite topic of debate at Home. Both Lord Roberts and Sir H. Campbell-Bannerman agree that the assistance of Japan is not needed and is undesirable.

THE Madras Legislative Council met on Tuesday afternoon for the first time this Session.

THE P. & O. Co.'s s. s. Coromandel with China Mails is expected to arrive in Bombay at noon to-morrow, Sunday, the 19th inst.

IT has been decided that the training of officers of the Reserve of Officers for the current year shall be suspended pending further consideration of the subject.

MR. R. M. DUNDAS, Personal Assistant to the Agent of the Bengal and North-Western Railway Company, has been permitted by the London Board to return to duty from sick leave home.

LORD KITCHENER is now in Calcutta and Army Headquarters offices are in full working order. His Excellency will meet Lord Minto in Calcutta before starting for Rawalpindi.

In a communication issued yesterday by the Government of Bombay, it is notified that the Government have decided to adopt Indian Standard Time in all Government offices in Bombay, commencing on the 1st of January.

MR. P. ASTON of Shaw Wallace and Co., has been elected the representative of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce on the Calcutta Port Trust to fill a vacancy.

THE Rev. C. A. Smith has been appointed a Chaplain on probation on the Madras Establishment in the room of the Rev. C. H. L. Wright, retired.

THE Lord Bishop of Calcutta, in a letter to the clergy of the diocese, has appointed Wednesday 29th instant, as a day of special intercession for the missionary work of the Church.

AT the Reception at Government House to-night carriages will enter by the Upper Gate leaving by the Lower Gate to be parked along the Ridge and Walkeshwar Roads, according to number of arrival, and they will be brought back after the Reception in the order in which they arrived.

A SPECIAL London telegram to the "Times of Ceylon," dated the 10th instant, states:—Cambridge University gave the New Zealanders the best match they have yet had, but the latter won by one goal and three tries (14 points) to nothing. The New Zealanders have won 17 consecutive victories, having scored 554 to 15 points.

LIEUTENANT-COLONEL J. R. C. COLVIN, of the Political service, who has just returned to India after long furlough, and is for the moment on temporary duty at Indore, is to be appointed to the Agency at Bhopal.

THE compilers of the Eastern Bengal and Assam "Gazette" evidently intend to be up to date in their notifications. "Leave in India for one month and sixteen days," we are told, "was granted to Captain Nuttal, I. A., from the 16th January to the 3rd March 1903, both days inclusive." Nothing like being precise over details in history.

CANON RHODES BRISTOW is an advocate of Sunday amusement. Speaking at a Southwark ruridecanal conference, the canon, while condemning indulgence in sports by the leisured class, said that his ideal Sunday for the working class was Holy Communion in the early morning worship in the forenoon and cricket, football, or other innocent sport for the afternoon, followed by another act of worship in the evening.

SIR HENRY BLAKE, Governor of Ceylon, and Lady Blake leave England on Thursday next for Colombo. They will be accompanied by the Duchess of St. Albans, and probably by Lady Alexandra Beauclerk. Sir Henry is bringing out as Private Secretary the Hon'ble Thomas McClintock-Bunbury, the only son of Lord Rathdonnell, and as Aide-de Camp, Captain Henry Phipps, R. F. A.

THE approximate traffic return of the Barsi Light Railway Company, Limited (21·59 miles open) for the week ending 11th November 1905, were Rs. 3,838 being an increase of Rs. 2,880 than the corresponding week of last year. The total receipts from 1st January to 11th November 1905, amount to Rs. 1,92,310 being an increase of Rs. 58,535 over the corresponding period of last year.

THE English Masonic world is greatly agitated on the subject of the election of Grand Treasurer. Up to the present every vote has had to be rendered in person each March at Freemasons' Hall, London, a regulation that has practically debarred Colonial and Indian brethren, and others residing at a distance from London, from participation in the election. All this has been changed. Votes received by post now count. To every Lodge Secretary throughout the English Constitution, voting papers have been despatched; he in his turn forwards these to brethren qualified to vote; and the marked paper may be forwarded at any time, provided it reaches the Grand Secretary at Freemasons' Hall, London, before the middle of February next.

IN these days of rapid progress our cherished institutions are apt to be swept away in the all compelling stream of innovation. Even the old-fashioned tonga that has come down to us from a hoary past is apparently in danger of being replaced at last by a more modern vehicle. At any rate among the inventions for which applications for patents have recently been filed at Calcutta is a "new pattern tonga" designed by a carriage builder of Bangalore. The tonga we have hitherto known is doubtless a wonderful contrivance for negotiating hills and rousing the liver; but few will feel any regret, if it has to go the way of other "bone-shakers." Another provincial patent, which may prove of interest to military officers, is for "improved appliances for use in ascertaining distances or altitudes, the same being particularly applicable for use in range-finding," the inventor being a New Zealand Militia Colonel.

THE Medical Officer of Health for Calcutta has just issued his report for 1904, and he claims that with a death-rate, excluding plague cases, of 24·5 the year was comparatively healthy. Plague was responsible for deaths amounting to 5·5 per thousand, which is less than in 1903, but Dr. Cook observes that the improvement has not been maintained during the present year. He is of opinion that malaria has diminished, but fears that tuberculosis is on the increase, and thinks that it requires systematic investigation and the adoption of special measures for its prevention. The greatest difficulty still met with is the ignorance of the people in regard to simple laws of hygiene and Dr. Cook does not place much reliance, on the effects of instruction given in schools because "school boys generally do not realise that what they learn as lessons has any bearing on their daily life at home." Close attention to water and milk supplies, the stoppage of sales of unwholesome food, and the clearance of unsanitary areas must be relied on for improving the general average of health. It is claimed, however, that Calcutta itself is already more heathy as a whole than the districts which immediately surround the city.

THE report on the Chin Hills for last year abounds with outrages committed by the tribes within administered territory. It is said that three villagers of Lungo who were enticed to visit Vellaung to sell saltpetre were seized and bound, and after being shot at for three days with arrows, which were not allowed to penetrate too deep in the flesh, they were killed, and their bodies decapitated. One of the men before being killed had the ends of his fingers and toes cut off, and was then forced to drink his own blood. It is admitted by the Superintendent of the Chin Hills that many acts of violence never come to the notice of British officials, being dealt with by tribes themselves. A question before the Burma Government is the administration of the territory lying between the Chin Hills and the Lushai Hills on the north, and the Arakan and Chittagong Hill tracts on the south. Neither, the Burma nor the Assam Government are willing to undertake the responsibility. It is said that firearms are being imported into the unadministered tract from Chittagong and Manipur, and that the villages are harassed by the independent tribes, who cross the border for the purposes of trade. The Commissioner of Arakan [illegible] that the people are not unwilling to be [illegible] the British administration, but [illegible]

THE COLONISATION OF THE COUNTRY.

ITS DIFFICULTIES.

AMONG the many suggested methods of dealing with the problem of the unemployed in our great cities, there is one that has come with considerable surprise to a large number of Englishmen. It is contained in the proposal to substitute for emigration a plan for the colonisation of the rural districts of England. It has not occurred to many of the dwellers in London and our large towns says a writer in the "Pall Mall Gazette," that while they have been busy with the question of over-population other thoughtful minds have been engaged upon the equally important question of the depopulation of the villages. To such it will be a surprise to learn that while the supply of labour is largely in excess of the demand in the cities, the exact opposite is the case in the country; and that employers have great difficulty in finding a sufficient number of hands to staff their farms and work their fields. It would seem, therefore, at first sight an obvious and excellent idea to let the one problem meet the needs of the other, and, by a systematic removal of the unemployed, at once to relieve the city and help the rural district. The suggestion seems so simple that one is tempted to wonder that it has never been carried out before; and it is only on second thought that one discovers the very real difficulties that underlie it. So it is to these difficulties that we attempt to draw attention.

IS THE UNEMPLOYED TOWNSMAN ADAPTED FOR COUNTRY LIFE AND WORK?

The circumstances of life in town and country are in many respects utterly different, and these differences leave a stamp on the men. The townsman differs from his country cousin physically, mentally and in character. His habits and outlook on life are different; his very appearance suggests strange contrasts. His life in some cramped house in a crowded street, combined with scarcity of food in the periods when he has been out of work, have left him with a pale face and narrow chest, with flabby muscles and half-filled lungs; and make him appear only half the man his country cousin is, with his bronzed features, deep chest and narrow brawny arms, with his slow swinging stride, and ponderous brute force. The difference in the mental attitude of the two men towards life is equally marked. The townsman, a mere unit in a world where the rush of life is ceaseless, and the competition for work that means bread is ever keen, has been sharpened to a quickness and alertness which makes the other's steady, quiet ways seems stupid. We say seem stupid, advisably; because those who know the slow ways of the countryman are able to recognise the quiet intelligence that lies beneath it. The man who lives in the open becomes the observant man; he watches the ways of Nature, and studies the habits of both animals and men; and beneath his quiet exterior there is a shrewdness that would surprise the stranger. Those who know will admit that it is generally easier to drive a bargain with a smart townsman than with the slow-going countryman. It is the difference between superficial smartness and slow shrewdness. There is one other point of difference that should be noted. The townsman, even the poorest, dwelling in his gas-lit streets, loses something of his natural self-reliance; so much is done for him. The countryman has to depend upon himself. Owing to the competition of trade the former finds at his door the cheapest and most varied supply of food; the countryman, to a great extent, is dependent upon his garden and pig-sty for a more monotonous supply of the necessaries of life. The village shop, as a rule, only supplies him with the cheapest articles at the dearest prices.

The consideration of these general differences leads to the question, "Is the unemployed townsman adapted for country life and work? This may be discussed from a threefold point of view—physical, mental, temperamental.

1. Physical.—Ordinary agricultural work requires great physical strength. Let anyone who doubts this simply attempt the walking over a rough field that is entailed in a day ploughing (quite apart from the skill and exertion required in driving the horses and guiding the plough); or let him spend a day in loading a [illegible] hayfield, or on the rick on a threshing day, and [illegible] will soon discover his mistake. Is the ordinary [illegible] employed half-fed man of the towns capable [illegible] undertaking such work?

Again, agricultural work entails great exposure [illegible] the elements—the blazing heat of June, the da[illegible] fogs of November, and the frosts of winter. [illegible] the inhabitant of the narrow streets of a city be [illegible]pected to survive this?

The writer of this article lives in a country vil[illegible] which is adjacent to a manufacturing town. [illegible] has seen countrymen go into the workshops of the town for the sake of the higher wages, and [illegible] in impaired health to their farm work because they have been unable to endure the conditions of the town life. He has also seen men from that [illegible] who come to the country, for the sake of the [illegible] air life, compelled to return, because they were [illegible]sically incapable of enduring the exposure to the elements that the work entailed.

2. Mental.—To the ignorant all work se[illegible] easy in the hands of the skilled workman; and [illegible] only when the novice attempts it is on his own count that he finds the hidden difficulties. Of [illegible] thing is this more true than of agricultural pursu[illegible] The smart townsman says he can surely do all [illegible] the despised bumkin can do; there is no special [illegible] in his work. It is only when he is put to try it [illegible] the fallacy is discovered. As a matter of fact [illegible] there are few kind work which, taken all round, require more technical knowledge. Whether it be the fields, that is ploughing, reaping plashing hedg[illegible] or draining, or in the feeding or care of cattle poultry, a want of trained observation of small thi[illegible] on the part of a servant will often entail considera[illegible] loss on a master. Some time ago a gentleman wh[illegible] life had been spent in a town inherited a coun[illegible] estate and went to live on it. He brought down [illegible] very handsome pair of horses, and employed a sm[illegible] town groom to take charge of them, thus superseding the old slow-going country groom, who [illegible] satisfied his predecessor. The new groom had b[illegible] in the habit of sending round the corner for the v[illegible] When anything ailed his horses, but in his new pl[illegible] there was not one within a radius of ten miles. O[illegible] night the old groom looked in on the new pair, o[illegible] the stable door. In his slow way he stared at the[illegible] for a moment. Osses all right he inquired. Rig[illegible] as ninepence was the reply I should look ou[illegible] they don't get colic is I was you was the answer [illegible] the turned away. The next morning one of the thr[illegible] hundred guinea pair was dead. "What made you s[illegible] that about colic last night?" asked the townsma[illegible] I saw by the way 'e set 'is ears and tucked in [illegible] legs as 'e wer'n comfortable. I should 'ave given 'im some iles myself; but it wern't no busine[illegible] mine! And I did give yer a 'int, but yer w[illegible] clever to take it." So the master lost his horse, a[illegible] the groom his place. The obvious moral of th[illegible] story is that the countryman in country pursuit[illegible] possesses a certain instinct, a certain gift of clos[illegible] observation and a considerable amount of self-reliance which the townsman is apt to lack; and the want of these qualities severely handicaps the townsman in country avocations.

3. Temperamental.—When a man is transplanted to unfamiliar surroundings, where his ignorance is forced on him at all points, there is serious danger of deterioration. He is apt to seize upon the worse features of the new life rather than the better, and the last state of the man is worse than the first. The countryman placed in a town is apt to drift to the gin-palace and the dancing saloon, under the impression that he is seeing life, and the townsman, overwhelmed by the quietude of the country, and unable to interest himself in the affairs that occupy his neighbours, is tempted to drown his boredom in beer. The causes which tend to the depopulation of the rural districts will tell with a tenfold force upon him, and unless the greatest care is exercised in his transplanting the experiment [illegible] only ensure failure.

It is, fair, therefore, to conclude that a scheme [illegible] sending the incapable from the cities to th[illegible] rural districts will not improve either the country, the town or the man himself but will [illegible] matters even worse than they are at present.

This conclusion, however, does not absolutely condemn the scheme of colonisation, nor deny that there are possibilities of usefulness in it for both sides; only shows that the scheme should be taken in hand, if at all, with a full recognition of the difficulties that surround it, and that all possible care should be taken to avoid the points of danger. The scheme of colonisation divides itself, naturally, into two parts: the first, as it concerns the children, the second, the adults.

1. The Children.—Most Boards of Guardians in cities and towns are now recognising the advantage of the "cottage home" principle for their children. In these cases they often take a plot of land near to the town, and build a house for this purposes, of the superior villa type, sometimes adding swimming-baths and other luxuries that are unknown to the children of working people who live with their parents at home. The children are thoroughly well cared for by a master and matron engaged for that purpose; they attend the ordinary elementary school of the place, and the ordinary cloths of a working man's child, and are not in any way labelled as "paupers"; but it must be obvious that in many ways such a scheme is far from perfect. The child does not get any real home life, and it fails to gain that incentive to self-dependence and self-help that does so much to form the character of the working classes. If, instead of building "cottage home" in the suburbs, city Boards of Guardians would board out their children in agricultural districts with labouring people, many of the drawbacks of the present system would be avoided, and at the same time the children would become rooted upon the land; they would be naturally drafted into agricultural work, and would naturally grow up to their surroundings in a country life and learn its ways. This boarding out could be done for quite as small a cost per head as the present plan of "cottage home," so that the ratepayer would have no greater burden to bear, and would possibly get better value for his money.

THE DEFENCE OF INDIA.

"JAPAN NOT NEEDED."

SPEECHES BY SIR H. C. BANNERMAN AND LORD ROBERTS.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, Nov 17.

Sir H. Campbell-Bannerman, speaking at Portsmouth last night, generally attacked the Government's home and fiscal policy.

Alluding to the French agreement and Anglo-Japanese alliance, he said every one must prefer a cordial understanding like the Anglo-French one to a binding alliance.

We cannot but suppose, he said, that Lord Lansdowne possessed information justifying so far reaching an alliance. However, whichever Government is in power during the next ten years, it will loyally carry out the alliance. He unreservedly approved the Treaty so far as it was intended to maintain the integrity of China, but though defence of India was our own affair and nobody else's, and if further measures were needed an appeal should be made to the loyalty of the people of India.

LONDON, Nov 16

Lord Roberts, in a lecture he delivered at Oxford on our North-Western frontier, said it would be a fatal blow to our prestige if the natives of India were allowed to believe England needed help from Japan to protect her frontiers.

He urged universal military training beginning at our school days.

On trying it for the third time the engine became derailed and fell a distance of twenty feet with the unfortunate officer underneath, he being killed instantaneously. A fireman, who accompanied Mr. Bergwan, was badly hurt and removed to Chittagong Hospital. Mr. Bergwan has only been in the country for a few months.

THE REVOLTING PRISONERS AT MADRAS.

RIOTERS FIRED ON.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

MADRAS, Nov. 16.

The jail riot in Enaculam, Cochin State, on the 14th had its origin in certain reforms which are being introduced by the new Superintendent to bring the administration in harmony with the British system. The immediate cause of the disturbance, however, was that hitherto the prisoners of each caste were allowed to have their meals cooked by one of their own caste and served separately, thus affording them the privilege of observing their caste scruples. This arrangement enabled the prisoners of each caste to make a saving from the money distributed daily for their rations. As this was found objectionable the new Superintendent abolished it and ordered that the meals for all the prisoners, irrespective of caste, should be cooked by a Nair casteman, and, went down himself that morning to see the distribution of the meals under the new arrangement.

When the meals were served to the prisoners a Christian, who is undergoing life imprisonment, refused to take his meals, whereupon the Superintendent asked him to sit down, at the same time putting his hands on the prisoner's shoulders. This irritated the convict, and an altercation ensued. Some of the prisoners immediately joined their comrade and assaulted the Superintendent brutally with the butt end of a carbine, which was snatched from one of the guards, inflicting three deep wounds, two on his head and a third on the bridge of his nose, breaking it and fearfully damaging one of his eyes. The first blow knocked Mr. Marshall, the Superintendent, to the ground, where he lay bleeding. On witnessing this the police guard stationed at the gate of the jail fired on the prisoners, wounding six.

Dr. Coombes, the Durbar Physician, who lives close by, immediately repaired to the jail and was quickly followed by a body of policemen and the Nair Brigade, who soon quelled the disturbance. Twenty-six prisoners implicated in the assault have been fettered. The Superintendent is in a dangerous condition.

THE ROYAL TOUR.

NEW COLOURS FOR THE YORK AND LANCASTERS.

AN IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY.

(FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

INDORE, Nov. 17.

There was large and distinguished gathering at the State Banquet last night. At the subsequent reception the investiture of the Begum of Bhopal and the Raja of Sailana with the Insignia respectively of G. C. I. E. and K. C. I. E. was impressively performed by the Prince.

This morning His Royal Highness reviewed the Bhopal Victoria Lancers and presented new Colours to the York and Lancaster Regiment, both ceremonials being imposing and impressive. Subsequently the Prince received and exchanged visits with the Maharajah Holkar, the Princess meanwhile returning the visit of the Begum of Bhopal.

In presenting the new Colours to the 1st York and Lancaster Regiment at Indore this morning, His Royal Highness, the Prince of Wales, addressed the regiment as follows : "Colonel Mayne, Officers, Non Commissioned Officers and men of the 1st York and Lancaster Regiment. I am much pleased to have had this opportunity of presenting you with your new Colours. It is just fifteen years ago that I performed a similar ceremony for your 2nd Battalion at Barbados and I am proud to think that the Colours now carried by both Battalions of your regiment have been presented by me. Remember that the Colours are the emblems of past achievements, that the spirit of loyalty and devotion, which they inspire, is an incentive to brave deeds and I feel sure that the gallantry displayed by your Battalion in the campaigns recorded on these Colours will be maintained wherever you may be called upon to fight for King and country. I now commit these Colours to your keeping. They will, I know, remain safe and untarnished in your hands."

Colonel Mayne in replying to the address of the Prince of Wales said :—

Your Royal Highness. In the name of the Battalion I beg to thank you most sincerely for the great honour accorded to it at your hands and for your gracious words which enhance the value of the presentation of these Colours that we know that amidst the strain of your most onerous social obligations Your Royal Highness has stepped out of your way to give valuable time in order to grant this honour to the Battalion. I trust that those who in the future serve under those Colours, knowing at whose hands they have received them, may be spurred to even greater deeds than those of the past in serving their Sovereign and their country.

THE KING EDWARD HALL.

In the evening the Prince and Princess opened the Edward Hall Memorial of the accession of the King-Emperor, afterwards driving direct to the station and leaving for Udaipur.

The "King Edward Hall" which was opened by the Prince of Wales to-day was erected by the Indore Darbar from plans by Mr. C. F Stevens, Architect of Bombay, for the special purpose of commemorating the accession to the throne of the King-Emperor, Edward VII. The work of erecting the hall was commenced in November 1903 and has just been completed. It is designed in the Hindu style of architecture and comprises a large hall, 112 feet in length by 48 feet in width, with a spacious stage at its eastern end and a gallery across the hall at the western end. The height of this chamber is 28 feet. At the eastern end reading rooms and a library are to be located and a feature of the building are the spacious open verandahs which surround the Hall on all sides. The four corners of the building formed by these verandahs terminate in characteristic towers surmounted by domes. The main entrance to the hall with a spacious carriage porch stands on the south side of the building at its centre, the vestibule being under a large clock tower, ninety feet high, with clock and chimes, and is capped by a large dome. The entire building is faced with Patan stone of a soft red colour, its finely carved columns, cornices, parapets, domes and all other dressings being of Seoni stone. The flooring to the Hall is of white and black marble and the handsome ceiling is of teak and plaster decorated in cream, pale, blue and gold. The building throughout is furnished with an electric installation which work was carried out by Messrs. John Fleming and Co. of Bombay while the clock and chimes were supplied by Messrs. Lund and Blockey of the same city.

THE PRINCESS-STREET INCIDENT.

CLEMENCY OF HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS.

It will be remembered on the 10th instant whilst Their Royal Highnesses were driving through the City, their carriage was approached by a Bhisti named Taba Fatta of the 113th Regiment who attempted to present a petition to His Royal Highness. By his action the man caused a certain amount of obstruction and he was consequently arrested, but in deference to the express wishes of His Royal Highness he was released and allowed to go free.

The Madras Port Trust Board, under the supervision of H. E. the Governor, will make all the arrangements for the reception at the Harbour of Their Royal Highnesses the Prince and Princess of Wales when they land at Madras.

The Royal Train was timed to leave Indore at half past six yesterday. Dinner was served at Chambal, while chota hazri will be eaten at Khemli, the train being due at Udaipur at half past eight.

FIRE AT THE PEOPLE'S FAIR.

NO WATER AVAILABLE.

The second fire in connection [illegible] the festivities for the Royal Visit has, as the first been characterised by an absence of water. The [illegible] broke out in a central block of stalls at the [illegible]'s [illegible] at about half-past ten yesterday morn[illegible] attendant at the milk stall of Khusaldas Chunlaldas was boiling some milk, when he went away from his post. It is thought that a spark from the stove caught the thin canvas walls of the stalls and immediately the slight breeze that was blowing fanned the flames, which spread almost to the end of the erection. There were about a dozen stalls involved, the severest loss being that of Jamen Turkey and Co., Cheap Jacks who in the rush to remove their goods and by a slight amount of burning, lost over Rs. 1,500. Another sufferer was S. Ahmed Shah, a vendor of Turkish and Persian caps, whose stock valued between three and four hundred rupees was completely spoiled. Khushaldas Chunlaldas, in whose stall the fire started lost everything to the amount of about Rs. 250, while next door the picture gallery and jewellery store of Rustam Gustas Irani suffered a loss of about Rs.150. Other stalls involved were those of Nusserwan Merwan, an American skittle table, Merwan Irani who lost over Rs. 500 by the burning of the stage and chairs in his human curiosity show, and H. A. Moosa Noormahomed and Sons of Shaik Memon Street, who would have suffered far more severely but for the plucky action of Sub-Inspector Ryan, who rescued a large amount of the goods. One of the stalls not burned was a firework shop, but there was only a small supply, and it was quickly removed. Kundar Gurdasi, sweetment vendor, was fortunate in removing the greater part of his stock.

The fire was first noticed by Corporal R. H Neemuchwala of the Poona Volunteers who gave the alarm and materially assisted in stamping out the fire in doing which he was badly burned about the hands. The 113th and the 10th Hussars sent over men who were placed in a cordon round the block to keep off the natives, who quickly congregated, to give room to the Fire Brigade. Three engines arrived, first the Fort, next the Colaba and shortly after the Byculla Bridge Engine, but they were found to be unnecessary as the fire quickly exhausted the flimsy material of which the stalls were constructed and was put out with a small hose. Inspector Bodley arrived early and took charge, while Mr. W. L. B. Souter was also present.

None of the stalls were insured and altogether damage to the amount of between two and three thousand rupees has been done. Although water is laid on from three different points in each case, the water was turned off at the main, and the buckets, of which there were plenty, were useless. Had the fire broken out on the other side of the "street" it is highly probably that at least half the fair would have been burned down.

STANDARD TIME.

IN BOMBAY FROM NEW YEAR'S DAY.

The following Resolution and correspondence were issued by Government, yesterday, on the subject of the adoption of Standard time in Bombay :—

Letter to the Government of India Department of Revenue and Agriculture (Meteorology), dated the 17th October :—

"With reference to paragraph 2 of Circular No. 7—71-22, dated 27th May 1905, Department of Revenue and Agriculture (Meteorology), I am directed to request you to be so good as to obtain the approval of the Government of India to the adoption of Standard Time in all Government institutions and offices, including Military and other offices immediately under the Government of India. In the City of Bombay with effect from the 1st December, and to communicate their decision to this Government by telegram in order that the earliest possible notice may be given.

"The Chamber of Commerce, Municipal Corporation, Port Trustees and Bombay Presidency Trades Association have passed Resolutions in favour of the general adoption of Standard Time in the city, and Government have been informed that the Bombay Association of Fire Insurance Agents, Native Share Brokers' Association and the Mill Owners' Association are also in favour of the change. On the other hand, in Chairman of the Bombay Piece Goods Merchants' Association sent a copy of three Resolutions passed by the Association in which their objections to the introduction of Standard Time are stated.

"It seems possible that the adoption of Standard Time may just at first be confined to business offices outside the native town, to all mills and factories, clubs and private residences, besides Government offices and institutions, but His Excellency in Council feels little doubt that it will very soon be accepted by the Native community as it has been throughout the rest of India."

Telegram from the Government of India, Department of Revenue and Agriculture (Meteorology), dated the 27th October.—

"Your letter, dated the 27th instant. India approve of adoption of Standard Time in all Government institutions and offices including Military and other offices immediately under India in the City of Bombay with effect from 1st December and are gratified by decision arrived at by the Government and people of Bombay."

Telegram to the Government of India, Department of Revenue and Agriculture, dated the 4th November.—

"Your telegram dated 27th ultimo. In order to avoid inconvenience arising in consequence of the short notice for the adoption of Standard Time, also to be in accord with the wishes of nearly every public body, this Government with the approval of the Government of India propose to postpone introduction from 1st December to 1st January 1906. Kindly wire approval urgently."

Resolution.—The Government of India having approved of the adoption of Standard Time in all Government Institutions and offices, including all Military and other offices immediately under that Government, in the City of Bombay, His Excellency the Governor in Council is pleased to direct that Standard Time shall be held to be the official time in this city for all purposes from and after the 1st January 1906.

LORD MINTO'S ARRIVAL.

QUIET BUT INTERESTING PROCEEDINGS.

A BELATED PASSAGE.

THE DEPARTURE FROM ENGLAND.

FROM early morn till dewy eve the region of the handsome shamiana erected for the reception of their Royal Highnesses the Prince and Princess of Wales was, yesterday, a scene of more or less excitement in expectation of the arrival of the Viceroy-Designate, the Right Hon. the Earl of Minto K. G. Although his Lordship's arrival was "Private" many people came down during the morning we hope of catching a glimpse of the famous ex-Governor-General of Canada, than whom few more interesting personages have set foot on the soil of India in recent years. It gradually went round however that a serious delay had occurred on the passage of the P. and O. s.s. Peninsular and the sightseers one by one went away to return in the afternoon only to find that the vessel had not yet been sighted ; and it was not until 3-20, that the flag was hoisted on the Port Trust flagstaff on Ballard Pier intimating that the mail steamer had appeared some miles out on the horizon. This fact was conveyed to the citizens by the firing of three guns at intervals of ten seconds from the Middle Ground battery.

As early as 11 a.m. 100 rank and file of the 104th Rifles with Band and King's Colour were on the scene under Lieut. Leckel, with two Native Officers, together with a detachment of the 133rd Native Cavalry, forming the guard-of-honour to Lord Minto. The troops endured the long wait with that air of resignation so characteristic of the Asiatic, and sat about on the chairs and chatted softly until the shades of evening began to close over the sea.

The scene in the harbour throughout the afternoon was picturesque in the extreme. H. M. S. Fox, Proserpine and Perseus were gaily bedecked with flags, and the gleaming white siders of the many yachts and sailing boats made a pretty picture. Under the personal supervision of Mr. R. J. Kent, Executive Engineer at the Presidency, the alteration of the arrangment at the Apollo Bunder had been pushed on to a speedy completion. The shamiana attached to the Passengers' Pavilion at the Bunder was allowed to stand, but an extension of it was deemed necessary, and the open space between it and the triumphal arch was filled in and covered. Barricades were raised and the shamiana was divided into compartments for high officials. Foreign Consuls, Native Chiefs, and Members of the Corporation. A large portion of the ground was carpeted with crimson cloth. Upon the whole the shamiana presented a gay and lively appearance, with a veritable garden of leafy plants placed all round the exterior. About midday, Brigadier-General R. M. Greenfield, Commanding Western District, Major Fraser, A. A. G., Captain Hopwood, Additional Staff Officer, and Lieut. Jenkins, orderly officer, came to the Bunder to make enquiries regarding the Peninsular and soon after went away.

The mail steamer eventually anchored in harbour at 4-40 p. m., when salutes of 31 guns each were fired in honour of Lord Minto by the warships in harbour, namely the Terrible, the Hyacinth, the Renown, the Perseus, the Fox, the Proserpine, and the Portuguese cruiser the St. Gabriel. The sightseers, who already made a considerable crowd were now speedily augmented by the arrival of people from the neighbouring hotels and streets, and from that moment the soldiers got into position to await the deputation from Government House. The officers soon arrived. They consisted of the Hon. Sir Steyling Edgerley, K.C.V.O., C.I.E., Chief Secretary to the Bombay Government, Colonel Edwardes, Military Secretary, and Captain Bulkley, A. D. C., to the Governor-General, Colonel Owen, Military Secretary ; and Captain Gray, A.D.C. to H. E. the Governor. At 5 p. m. the members of the Deputation boarded the steam launch Aid, in charge of Lieut. Scott, R.I.M., and the boat set out for the mail steamer. From the time of its arrival alongside a number of launches came across from different vessels to the landing-stage everybody expecting Lord and Lady Minto to arrive by each, and the disappointment of the crowd was obvious as evening fell and the Viceroy-Designate had not arrived. It was not till the shamiana had been lit up that the R.I.M. steam launch "Bee" in charge of Lieut. T.H.H. Hand come alongside bearing Lord and Lady Minto and their charming daughters Lady Eileen, Lady Violet and Lady Ruby Elliott. With them was Major F. L. Adam, Military Secretary, Lord Francis Scott, A. D. C., Lieut.-Col. Crooke-Lawless, I. M. S. ; Major Fielding, A. D. C. Upon the steps leading to the water's edge had been laid a cerise-coloured carpet with a white border. Owing to the wash created by the rapid pulling up to the launch at the quay-side there was a delay of some moments in getting ashore but eventually Lord Minto was observed to leave the launch followed by his Aides-de-Camp and Lady Minto and her daughters. Rousing cheers greeted His Lordship as he ascended the steps. The Viceroy-Designate looked very spick and span in a silk hat and a frock-coat of French grey, a white vest and slip and wearing on the left breast a glittering Order.

On arriving beneath the Shamiana, Lord Minto was introduced by Sir Steyling Edgerley to General Greenfield, who in turn introduced his Lordship to his suite. Lady Minto was then introduced to a number of the officers and for some moments a general conversation took place.

Lord Minto next inspected the Guard of Honour, (not by the way the first Guard he has inspected by many a score, he being the most military of all Britain's present Governors-General) Among the interesting gentlemen present who were presented to Lord Minto was his Highness the Maharaja of Kashmir, who smilingly bowed his acknowledgments. The Hon. Sir Denzil Ibbetson, Member of the Viceroy's Council, and the Hon. Mr. Muir Mackenzie were also among those introduced to his Lordship. Lord Minto then entered the State carriage of his Excellency the Governor of Bombay, Lady Minto and Sir Steyling Edgerley accompanying him. As the equipage drove off to Government House the first few bars of the National Anthem were played amidst a roar of welcoming hurrahs. His Lordships was escorted by the detachment of the 33rd Native Cavalry under the command of Major Brown.

THE DRIVE TO GOVERNMENT HOUSE.

Notwithstanding the fact that the hour of the expected arrival of the Mail steamer and the time of the landing of his Excellency the Viceroy-Designate had been so considerably altered, there was a very large crowd assembled around the Apollo Bunder last evening to get a glimpse of our new Viceroy. Every window and verandah of the buildings along the Apollo Bunder road was occupied, and as the carriage containing the Viceroy-Designate and Lady Minto came in sight there was a general stir. Moving out of the Apollo Bunder at 5-55 p. m., their Excellencies were received at the Wellington Fountain with deafening cheers by a very large mass of the busy populace, most of whom, presumably, had just then been relieved from their day's work. The short distance through Mayo Road was passed without anything of note having occurred and the party then skirted the Bandstand, where, as is usual of an evening, were a number of ladies and gentlemen having their evening promenade on the lawn, but who as soon as the advance escort was heard approaching, lined the railing of the bandstand. Passing this, Queen's Road was curved into, and on the arrival at Church Gate Station, there was another surging crowd. Here their Excellencies were afforded a chance of viewing the ruins, caused by the recent fire, of that architectural building—the B.B. and C.I. Railway Offices. Driving at a rapid pace along the route Marine Lines station was reached. In front of this is a group of buildings occupied exclusively by Parsees. Every window in this group of buildings was packed with Parsee ladies and gentlemen the former in a variety of attractive Oriental costume. Passing along the entrance of Princess Street and by the Hindu Burning ground, there was another grouped line of people anxiously waiting to view the occupants of the first State coach, which led out. Near the Charni Road station Their Excellencies were received with another ovation by the orphans of the Adamji Peerbhoy Sanitarium. Crossing the railway lines at Chowpaty the distinguished party got on to the Chowpaty seaface, along which the drive was exceedingly pleasant, and Government House, Malabar Point, was soon reached, the carriages proceeding through the lower gate.

The proceedings were of a social character, and the speeches were neither long nor numerous. There were only four toasts on the list, and of these three were proposed by the Chairman who in proposing the health of the Viceroy-Designate, said that Lord Minto was going out to India with the best wishes of his friends, and supported by complete confidence in his ability to fulfil the duties of his high office to the greatest advantage of his country and entire credit to himself.

In returning thanks for the toast Lord Minto said—Great and honourable as the post is to which the King has appointed me, I know that the task allotted to me is no easy one. The difficulties and responsibilities of Indian administration loom large before me. I am succeeding a brilliant ruler who, in perfecting the machinery of State, has displayed energies and abilities which no successor could hope to emulate. And yet my racing days perhaps have taught me that many a great race had been won by easing the horse in his work. I go forth from these shores hoping to reap the benefit of work already done—hoping to be able to the best of my ability to further the result of that work—to recognise the noble self-sacrifice of our fellow-countrymen's services in distant lands, to further as best I can the happiness and confidence in each other of men of nationalities, races, and creeds.

The Marquess of Lansdowne, in proposing the health of the Chairman, referred to the impending departure of Lord Minto. Their feelings that night, he said, were very mixed, but those who had watched the noble earl's career were delighted that he was to have a wider field for the display of the many sound and excellent qualities which had made him distinguished.

DEPARTURE FOR INDIA.

There was a very large and distinguished group of people on the departure platform at Victoria yesterday morning, when the Earl of Minto started on his journey to India. The Duke of Connaught was in uniform, hurrying to Chatham to keep an official engagement, but he found time to break his journey for the purpose of saying good-bye. Lord Lansdowne, the Colonial Secretary, and Mr. and Mrs. Brodrick, as well as the Prime Minister, where there. The India Council and the India Office were, of course, strongly represented.

The boat train express left punctually at 11 o'clock amid hearty cheers from the great gathering of well-wishers on the platform, among whom were the Duke and Duchess of Portland, the Duchess of Buccleuch and Lady Constance Scott, the Marchioness of Salisbury, the Marquess of Tweeddale the Marquess of Bath, the Marquess of Granby, the Earl of Kilmorey, the Countess of Antrim, General Lord Methuen the Hon Sir Schomberg McDonnell, the Hon. George Peel, the Hon Mrs. Bourke, the Right Hon. Kennaway, M. P., Lady Lister Kaye, Sir M Bhownaggree, M.P., Sir John Dickson Poynder M.P. Sir Alexander Badcock, Sir Owen Tudor Burne, Sir John Gordon, Sir John Edge, Sir David Barr, Sir Patrick Playfair, Sir Curzon Wyllie, General Sir Hugh Gough, Sir Godfrey Clerk, Sir Hugh Barnes, Sir Charles Lyall, General Sir Alexander Elliot, Sir Charles Dawson, Col. Sir Alfred Egerton, Sir W. Lee Warner, Lady Lawrence, Sir Frank and Lady Younghusband, General Sir Neville Lyttelton, General Sir Edwin Hulton, Sir James Mackay, Mr. J. F. Finlay, Mr. Rees, Mr. Gerald and Lady Louise Loder and Capt. Graham.

Lord and Lady Minto were accompanied by their three daughters and by their son Lord Melgund, with Lieut.-Col. Dunlop-Smith, Surg.-Lieut.-Col. Crooke Lawless, and Lord Frances Scott, of the Grenadier Guards, all of the Viceregal Staff. So great had the crowd become by the time they reached the station that the officials of the railway company has found it necessary to prepare a special waiting room ; and here most of the farewells were said. Many bouquets were handed to Lady Minto—among them a bunch of white heather from the Duke and Duchess of Buccleuch, and a display of lilies of the vally and roses placed upon the saloon table by Sir John and Lady Lister-Kaye.

As the train steamed out of the station the new Viceroy and Lady Minto stood at the window of the saloon waving their hands.

THE BOMBAY Y. M. C. A.

AN ADMIRABLE WORK.

ONE of the most useful institutions in Bombay is certainly the Young Men's Christian Association. How many young Englishmen, newly arrived in the city full of hope and doubt about the future, have found friends and encouragement beneath the roof of the Y. M. C. A. It is impossible to say but it may safely be averred that in no city in the world has any institution of this kind such opportunities of rendering good service to the incoming strangers in a strange land as the Y. M. C. A. of Bombay. We are therefore glad to notice that the annual report just issued has a healthy tone, the members showing a steady increase. All sorts of pastimes are provided for the members ; an Athletic Club, tennis courts, a cycling club, a reading room, a library and even a monthly magazine perhaps the funniest pastime of all ! Now the "Young Men" are looking eagerly forward to their new by building the foundation stone of which was laid by H. E. Lord Lamington on December 6th 1904. The Bombay Y. M. C. A. is doing an admirable work—pity it is more young men do not realise its advantages.

ENGLISH POLITICAL AND SOCIAL LETTER.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

LONDON, Nov. 3.

THE VICEROY-DESIGNATE.

The private friends of Lord Minto mustered in strong force at the dinner given in his honour at Prince's Restaurant under the presidency of the Duke of Portland and the brilliant gathering testified to his great popularity in Society. Naturally in such a company there was very little in the way of speechifying and even the Press were not invited. Perhaps it was thought best in view of the present situation in India to offer no further opportunity than was necessary for any blazing indiscretions, but running my eye over the gilded names as published in the "Times," I do not think that such a danger was to be apprehended, and at all events I do not remember any previous farewell of the kind at which reporters were not present. The affair in that respect was in strange contrast to the Eton Dinner given to Lord Minto together with Lord Curzon and Bishop Welldon seven years ago when there was eloquence enough to satisfy anybody and of which very full reports were published in the daily Press. At the dinner of Monday last Anglo-Indians were conspicuous by their absence and it is to be regretted that Lord Minto's many engagements prevented him from accepting the hospitality of the Northbrook Society, the members and friends of which would, I am sure, have assembled in large numbers to wish him all success in the greatest office outside these isles, an office that tests the powers of its incumbent in a way that no colonial post however high tests. That Lord Minto will prove a worthy, if less showy, successor to Lord Curzon is the firm conviction of those who are best able to judge, including Lord Lansdowne who if I might hazard a guess probably had more to do with the appointment than anybody else. If we may judge from his little speech as it is reproduced in one of the London papers there will probably not be much of the prancing proconsul about Lord Minto's regime in India and he distinctly prepares you for what I may call a quiet time. "I am," he said "succeeding a brilliant ruler who, in perfecting the machinery of State, has displayed energies and abilities which no successor could hope to emulate. And yet my racing days, perhaps, have taught me that many a great race has been won by easing the horse in his work. I go forth from these shores hoping to reap the benefit of work already done—hoping to be able to the best of my ability to further the result of that work—to recognize the noble self-sacrifice of our fellow countrymen's services in distant lands, to further as best I can the happiness and confidence in each other of men of different nationalities, races and creeds." So mote it be. If he needed encouragement in entering upon his high responsibilities they were surely forthcoming in the remarkable enthusiasm with which he was cheered at Victoria Station on his departure with his charming family for India.

THE COMING GENERAL ELECTION.

To say that dissolution is in the air would be an exaggeration, but it is very significant that certain important organs of the Government who were all for the Ministry remaining in power until actually defeated in the House of Commons are now urging their leaders to throw up the sponge with the least possible delay. What has caused this "volteface?" In my opinion it is due, first, to the remarkable Liberal victory at Barkston Ash and second to recognition of the fact that the severe internal complaint from which the Conservative party is suffering cannot any longer be concealed from the public gaze. Lord Stanley perhaps counts for less in Whitehall than he does at Newmarket—there are others of whom the same may be said in this pleasure-loving age—but after all he is, goodness knows why, a member of the Cabinet. Well, Lord Stanley, in a speech he made the other day, reaffirmed his unalterable attachment to free Trade and for the hundredth time declared that he would sooner sacrifice office—he will sacrifice it soon in any case—than belong to a Government which had its banner emblazoned with the symbols of Tariff Reform. And now comes a more important though not more able man—the Marquis of Londonderry—with a speech which has made the Chamberlainites furious with indignation. Lord Londonderry's influence politically is known to all the world. In Ireland he controls Conservative policy and he was the principal cause of Mr. George Wyndham's downfall. He is, owing to his wealth and territorial possessions almost, as great a power in regard to English politics. What he says has to be listened to by the party whether they like it or not. The occasion of the notable speech made on Wednesday by the Lord President of the Council was a Conservative Club dinner at Sunderland. After the usual attacks on the heterogeneous [illegible] he proceeded to deal with the fiscal question, which he began by frankly admitting has caused a "deplorable split" in the Unionist party. What, [illegible] time shown? Why that Mr. Chamberlain [illegible] had not been realised and that a [illegible] people who had been attracted by the [illegible] of the Bermingham policy were now flocking under the banner of the only man qualified to speak on behalf of the Unionist party," namely Mr. Balfour. If the Unionist tariff reformers encouraged their followers not to vote for Unionist free-traders, or, even worse, vote against them, and if free-traders retaliated on the same principle that was to his mind disloyalty, and if acted upon must spell disaster to the Unionist party at the next General Election. There was no denying the fact that in the past two years every by-election had resulted in a practical and moral victory for the Opposition. The Unionist were prepared for defeat, but if they rallied round Mr. Balfour they might at least be a strong and United Unionists and so forth. This does seem, to use a vulgar expression, to be like giving the show away, but it is not this which annoys the Chamberlainites so much as Lord Londonderry's preferred appeal to all who profess and call themselves Unionists to enroll themselves under the flag of Mr. Balfour "who had told them distinctly at Edinburgh that he was no protectionist." It will be interesting to see what Mr. Chamberlain when he speaks at Birmingham to-night has to say about all this. Meanwhile his son who is Lord Londonderry's colleague has taken up the challenge. He noticed, he said, an inclination in certain quarters to place Tariff Reform in a secondary place (Lord Londonderry would give it no place at all). That was not the view of the Government or of the Prime Minister. In their view it was the greatest of the issues which they had to put before the people. Having set their hands to the plough they were not going to turn back, they were not going to desert the task which they had undertaken whether the immediate fortunes of the fight be in their favour or against them. The fiscal system under which we had worked for the last 60 years was out of date, and no longer responded to the needs of the time in which we lived. The weapons with which we fought our competitors must change with the changing circumstances of the time. We should have to go back a long distance to match this sparring exhibition between two heavy weights of the same Cabinet, and no wonder the "Pall Mall Gazette" sheds tears over the painful spectacle. Lookers on ask why Mr. Balfour does not put an end to the present sorry farce particularly now he sees that his position instead of having improved by his Micawber-like policy has distinctly worsened. The rank and file having such an example set them are out of hand squabbling amongst themselves as to the causes of their repeated losses at the by-elections. One section put all the blame on the authorities at head-quarters and cry aloud for the dismissal of Captain Wells who, although he has his spurs yet to won, has so far as can learn proved himself a capable successor of Mr. Middleton. The "Pall Mall" with more sense and justice puts its finger on the spot when it says that what is causing the trouble is the embarrassing situation of the party in the House of Commons. There is not sufficient inspiration for Unionists in the spectacle of their party holding office and fighting to retain it by dint of an unstable and precarious majority. Parties are only held together by the consciousness of a policy and purpose, and the private Unionist cannot for the life of him perceive what is to be accomplished by his leaders in a new Session of the present House of Commons. He has no relish for the process of "ploughing the sands" with a foredoomed scheme of Redistribution. He knows that the Government are precluded by their own engagements from attempting Tariff Reform before a General Election. And he is not enlivened by the prospect of the Legislature marking time for the mere satisfaction of knowing that a Unionist Government continues to hold a power which it cannot employ. It is a new thing to hear complaints on the Conservative side of lack of funds. On this subject the "Pall Mall Gazette" says—Quite recently the Liberal Party have raised, according to their own public manifesto, [illegible] sterling, and expect to get £50,000, in view of a General Election. What have the Conservatives done? But this, after all, is not the point, it is not the point that for every pound the Liberals can raise the Conservatives should raise one hundred, but surely the "Pall Mall" does not mean that the Conservatives should raise a special election fund of £4,000,000 which as one of its [illegible] observes would work out at £6,000 a member. We like to think that politically we are the purest race on the face of the earth, but I pray that my countrymen may be saved from the temptation that may be theirs if the demand of Mr. Walter Astor's organ is literally responded to.

MRS. WARREN'S PROFESSION.

Mr. George Bernard Shaw is not supposed to be averse to notoriety but he has not been given an advertisement that he does not [illegible] relish. The fact that a good many people [illegible] not usually [illegible] and other [illegible] man—living—patted him on the back for his courage in disapproving of Sir Henry Irving's ashes being deposited in Westminster Abbey will hardly compensate him for the treatment to which he has been subjected in New York. Of course, everyone knows what a moral place New York is and therefore we heard without much surprise of a dead set against his play "Mrs. Warren's Profession" being allowed to corrupt the unsophisticated inhabitants of that city of innocence. But we were hardly prepared for the vigour actually displayed by the pure-minded agents of that abode of virtue—Tammany Hall. The play had been forbidden at New Haven, Connecticut, after one performance, but New York did not think much of this regarding the objection as mere provincialism. But when the piece was produced at the Garrick Theatre in New York on Monday every one said "How shocking!" The owner of the theatre had expressed his intention of being guided by the critics, and to a man the critics told him to drop the thing. But the authorities left him no choice. A Police Commissioner who rejoices in the name of McAdoo—Mr. Shaw must note this for his next work of genius—officially attended on Monday night, reported to the Tammany Mayor that the play was not fit and proper, and the Tammany Mayor forthwith ordered that there should be no second production. What is more, the manager of the theatre and all the male members of the company were after the manners of that land of freedom, arrested and are now awaiting their trial on a charge of offending public decency. Mr. Shaw is as philosophical as could be expected in the circumstances and hurls at the New York McAdoo as he hurls at our own McAdoo, otherwise the Lord Chamberlain, the accusation that only plays in which vice is made attractive are acceptable in these times.

HOURS OF LABOUR IN THE BOMBAY MILLS.

The "Manchester Guardian" of Saturday contains the following announcement:—"A joint meeting of representatives of the Cotton Employers' Parliamentary Association and the Textile Workers' Association was held yesterday at 12, Exchange street, Manchester, to consider the question of taking action with regard to the working of the Bombay mills. The meeting was held in private, and at the end it was announced that no communication could be made to the press as to what had been done." The "Manchester Courier" says that the question of the conditions prevailing in B mbay was discussed and a sub-committee appointed to take the whole question into consideration and report to a further meeting.

OLLA PODRIDA.

F. R. writing in this week's "World" which by the way has an interesting "character sketch" of the ex-Calcutta Judge Mr. Ameer Ali says:—"An enormous number of insulting letters were received by the editor and myself on the subject of my last article on dukes. It would be kinder if dukes would refrain from writing unpleasant things about me to the editor of this paper. (I find it very hard to get more than half a crown for the autograph of any duke, even when I have amended the spelling in the body of the letter.)" This reminds me of a remark once made by the late Lord Houghton to the late Lord Stanley of Alderley—"You and I are the only members of the House of Lords who can spell!" In order that you may not be inundated with letters for saying unpleasant things about our, let me add that none of my acquaintances would so thank you for the set grapo of any member of the House of Lords, though he were the dullest of du dukes.

When the present King visited India the official account of the memorable tour was written by that hale old veteran known to his intimates as "Bill Russell" and to others as Sir William of that ilk. To interesting announcement has been made here that the story of the Royal Journey, now in progress will be told in two volumes (illustrated) by Sir Walter Lawrence. May I express the hope that the work will not be too "official" and that the author will not be unduly hampered by considerations of etiquette? If he is given a free hand we may be certain that his book will be both readable and picturesque.

COLONISATION OF THE COUNTRY.

2. The Adults.—The scheme that deals with the children would undoubtedly do much to relieve the stress of the cities in the course of years; but the problem is an urgent one, which requires that something should be done at once. The unemployed townsman is shown to be unfitted, mentally, physically, and temperamentally, for ordinary rural work. In what way, then, can the scheme of colonisation be worked with the adult?

There are certain lighter forms of agriculture, besides that of the forester, which suggest themselves. The demand in England for poultry in various kinds, for eggs, butter, cheese, vegetables and so on increases year by year and the demand is supplied to a large extent, by importation and this when there are wide tracts of suitable land in England literally crying out for cultivation! Much of the work in these spheres could be done by unskilled labour, and is at the same time within the physical scope of the classes with which we are concerned; and moreover, the technicalities of them could be quickly learned by a person of ordinary intelligence.

Again: the introduction of certain industries into rural districts where the staple commodity can be produced would suggest a means of useful and successful colonisation. For instance, the introduction of the manufacture of sugar in a neighbourhood suitable for the growth of beet; of jam factories in a fruit-growing district; and so on.

We are aware that there are difficulties surrounding such a suggestion, that is, the difficulty of housing, of wages, of Railway rates, and the like, but surely not such difficulties as are insurmountable by anybody of men, whether public or private, who set themselves seriously to the work of solving two of the greatest problems that face our modern life—the overcrowding of the towns and the depopulation of the country. And the reward that awaits such task is surely one to encourage the most apathetic. Healthier cities, more prosperous villages, wealthier citizens and a nation of men with purer minds and final ideals, in stronger, healthier bodies!

The report urges that there should be no official interference in the elections of the Duma, and recommends a reform of the Council of the Empire on an electoral basis, guarantees for the confirmation of civil liberty, the abolition of exclusive laws and the avoidance of repressive measures in respect of proceedings which do not openly menace society or the State.—Count Witte is forming a Cabinet. M. Pobiedonostzeff, Procurator of the Holy Synod and leader of the reactionary party in Russia, has resigned. It is said that General Trepoff also has resigned, and that a well-known Liberal will be his successor.—The news from many Russian cities before the Tsar's surrender was very grave. In Kharkoff a state of war was declared, and serious conflicts occurred in Odessa and Polish centres. Mock republics were proclaimed in some places and the local authorities were so powerless that the maintenance of order was assumed by committees of public safety. There was a sudden development of sympathy with the Russian people among the Finns. In view of the internal conditions of Russia, the Minister of Finance decided to postpone negotiations in regard to the projected loan. Even now the situation is very serious. While the Tsar's Manifesto has elicited much popular rejoicing, its concessions are regarded as only an instalment of the reforms needed, and the revolutionary movement is unabated. On Tuesday there was an enormous demonstration in the Nevsky Prospect; red flags were waved and revolutionary speeches delivered. The troops did not interfere. The Social Democrats issued a manifesto declaring that the people must continue the strikes, organize a militia, and demand an amnesty. Demonstrations continued on Wednesday in St. Petersburg.

ADDITION BY MACHINERY.

THAT "truth is stranger than fiction" is a fact which finds abundant confirmation in the world of commerce. Who shall attempt to forecast the conditions under which business will be conducted in the future, when we have now—though it is safe to say that many business men are as yet unaware of it—a machine which not only actually adds up columns of figures, but at the same time prints the items, without any assistance whatever from the operator beyond the typing of these figures and the pulling of a lever? Although the possibility of such a machine was predicted two or three centuries ago, those who made the predictions were doubtless regarded in much the same light as searchers for the elexir of life or the philosopher's stone, and even now many people find it difficult to believe that such a machine exists. Yet the impossible has once more been accomplished, for, in 1893, Mr. Burroughs, an American, invented and brought to perfection a machine capable of automatically adding up figures—either plain numerals or £ s. d.—the smaller machine having a capacity of £999,999 19s 11d., and the larger £9,999,999,999 19s 11d. It is gratifying to know that, as with many other time and labour saving devices, the idea of an adding up machine originated in this country, the first machine of this description having been invented as far back as 1642. Since then many hundreds of devices of a similar nature have been patented. Amongst the most important was the "Babbage" machine, which was commenced by a Mr. Babbage in 1819. But although Mr. Babbage received substantial assistance from the Government (Sir Robert Peel admitting in the House of Commons, in 1843, that the Government had spent £17,000 on the machine), it was not success, and may now be seen at the National Museum, South Kensington. Of all the other machines which have been invented with the object the Burroughs' Adding and Registering Machine is the only one which has proved a success. Mr. Burroughs while working in a bank was also tinkering in his father's shop on a time-piece. This clock and his duties in the bank suggested the desirability of an adding machine which would not only relieve him but thousands of other of much mental strain and loss of time, which could be put to more practical and advantageous work. As already mentioned the machine was brought to perfection in 1893, but this was not before, Mr. Burroughs had spent eight years' work on it, or before it had cost the company which was formed to exploit the invention some £50,000.

THE SUPPRESSED ITALIAN MONASTERIES.

WHEN the State, at the time of the making of Italy, suppressed various monasteries, the general mode of procedure was to leave the monks already there, in possession, with the prohibition to any others to enter. When reduced by death to six the monastery was to be closed and the remaining monks to find refuge in other houses of the order. Now, after thirty-five year, this dread day has come to several communities, and the lonely old monks, with tears in their eyes, are obliged to leave the place they have made an Eden. The case of the Barefoot Trinity Order at Sant'Oreste is particularly touching. The spot has been dedicated to religion since the fifth century and the Trinity have been there for over 500 years. That a change must be made, they knew but they did not realise until the other day, when they were informed that the whole place had been sold by the Government to a private person. The blow had fallen and like true saints, they packed their modest belongings and left quietly the home where they had hoped to die. But the town people did not take the news of the departure of their beloved friends and benefactors so quietly, and got up a popular demonstration, in which hundreds of women took part going processionally with lighted torches to implore the intercession of the Madonna; but, is it necessary to say, uselessly? In these mundane days, the State certainly gains over the Church in any difference of opinion.

A LONG-FACED CAT.

SOME weeks ago there came to the London Zoological Gardens a cat which was unlike any other cat previously exhibited by the Society. This animal, which occupies a cage in the Small Mammals House has now been named Felis badia, and its home is believed to be in Borneo. The colour of its short, smooth fur is hardly to be described as bay it is grey rather than brown, and the inclination to chestnut is very slight indeed. The Bay Cat, as we must call it is a pretty creature short-legged and long-bodied, with a thick tapering tail of no great length.

For a cat the shape of its head is remarkable, and it has rather small ears. Instead of the short, round face of the typical cat, the face of this animal is comparatively long. But in its movements this curious "pussy" is true to the instincts of its race. In the stealthy tread, in the manner of opening the mouth, stretching the limbs, and protruding the claws, to say nothing of the method of carrying the tail, there is no mistaking the cat. This interesting inmate of the "Zoo" is fairly tame, and apparently in the best of health.

From the City of London, a sword of great value. From the Grand Signior, a diamond aigrette, or plume of triumph, valued at £2,000; from the same, a rich pelisse, valued at £1,000; from the Grand Signior's mother, a rose set with diamonds, valued at £1,000; from the Emperor of Russia, a box set with diamonds, value £2,500; from the King of the Two Sicilies, a sword richly ornamented with diamonds £5,000; also the Dukedom of Bronti, with an estate supposed, per annum £3,000; from the King of Sardinia, a box set with diamonds £1,200.

HEADACHE CURED

"For twelve years I suffered acutely from headache, and had it not been for Chas. Forde's Bile Beans, I should no doubt have been suffering yet." So says Mrs. E. McDonald, of High Street, Rutherglen. She continues—"Like many other women, I rushed to powders in the belief that they would cure me. Some of them gave me momentary relief, but left me in a far worse state than before. The doctor assured me that these headaches would wear off, but his prophesy was never fulfilled. Four years ago—just after my daughter was born—I was in a dreadful state. I could not see because of a sort of haze which came before my eyes. I had spells of sickness, and felt so dizzy at times, that I was obliged to lie down. My digestion was disordered and I was dreadfully depressed. I got into such a terrible state that I have often prayed I might die. My minister advised me to try Bile Beans, and got a permit for me; but by this time I had no hope left. Fortunately, however, I tried Bile Beans when I was at my worst. They soon improved my digestion, gave me an appetite, cured the liver, and rid me completely of the terrible headache. I am now in perfect health, and they tell me I look like a farmer's wife."

TO CHINA BY RAIL VIA INDIA.

It has been a cardinal principle of Russian policy, says "Engineering," that the construction of a Southern Asiatic railroad was by all possible means to be prevented, and as such a system would have been fostered by railway development in Central and Southern China these were also opposed. It was mainly through her lien on Persia that Russia proposed to render impossible direct and continuous railway connection between the Mediterranean and the Yellow Sea. Now that Russia cannot play, in Asiatic development, the part of the dog-in-the-manger the Persian veto on the southern all-rail route across the Continent may be held as subject to revision. International jealousies apart, the first link between Europe and such a railroad continues "Engineering," would be the German line across Asia Minor, beginning on the Asiatic side of the Bosphorus, and ending at the harbour of El Koweit, on the Persian Gulf—a total distance of 1,7[illegible] miles. But the fact has been recognised that the Power in possession of this so-called Bagdad railway would command the intercommunication of three continents, and as the ambitions of Germany cover so large a surface, it is in the last degree undesirable that the key of the Asiatic railway system should come into German hands. A Southern Asiatic railway system which should start within a sphere where British influence is secure is found in Arabia; and it is proposed to connect the Mediterranean with the Persian Gulf by a line beginning at Alexandria, crossing the Isthmus of Suez to the Gulf of Akbah, and continuing thence to Bussorah and Koweit. This line, says "Engineering," is 500 miles shorter than the German road, which starts from the Asiatic side of the Bosphorus, but it would entirely lack the advantage possessed by the German system of being a direct railway communication with Europe. Between El Koweit and the frontier of Beluchistan, where British influence is again supreme, come 700 miles of Persian territory which, it is assumed, cannot be much longer closed to railway enterprise. There remains but 520 miles to connect the new system with the Indian railway at Kurrachee. From this latter point to the frontier of Burmah, the interval of 2,500 miles is already traversed by railways, and a line supplementary to that system is now in process of construction through British Burmah. The terminus of this latter is on the Chinese frontier at Kunlong Ferry, between which and Shanghai there remains a distance of 1,600 miles. The covering of this by the iron road is already in process. Combining the various sections of the system thus outlined, we, adds "Engineering," get a total of 1870 miles, of which fully one-third has already been constructed, and of which some important links are in course of being supplied.

THE DOYEN OF NAVAL ARCHITECTS.

Sir Edward James Reed, M.P., and once Chief Constructor of the British Navy, is one of the most interesting men known to the mysteries and the craft of shipbuilding and engineering. He is to-day doyen of his calling. Sir Edward Reed was practically "in" at the transition of wood into iron as the material in which to construct Britain's first line of defence, and was Chief Constructor to the Admiralty from 1863 to 1870. Since 1870 he has been practically constructor to the navies of the world. His energy is impressive as his temper, and he has been one of the heavy debaters of Parliament on his own subject. Sir Edward Reed's contributions to the fleet of John Bull have been the most famous since the days of the "Victory." Sir Edward made naval architecture a motif and a pursuit. One day he walked down to Pepys' old office at Whitehall and asked to see the First Lord of the Admiralty. The Barnacle met the visitor, a determined-looking type of his nation, and he was shown the Circumlocution Office. But that did not satisfy the determined-looking one, and in the end he obtained an audience of both the "Ruler of the Queen's Navee" and the First Sea Lord. He showed these gentlemen how ships of war would be improved by the reduction of their dimensions, and how the Treasury would consequently be able to reduce the Naval Estimates. The First Lord and the First Sea Lord were delighted. The nation wanted economy. The new man was called in, and within the first three years of his Constructorship he designed ironclad ships for the Navy of 35 000 tons, a fleet of steam transports of the "Malabar" type for the Indian Government of 4,000 tons each a paddle despatch steamer of war, and in addition a great ironclad for the Turkish Navy. But he strongly objected to rigged sea-going turretships as unstable and uncalled for, and this objection got the Chief Constructor into hot water with "My lords" and their fuglemen in both Houses. Matters became acute, and in 1870 Mr. Reed resigned office. But his revenge came swiftly and awfully, for one of these high-rigged, sea-going turretships, the "Captain" whose designer, Captain Cowper-Coles, was on board, capsized off Vigo a few weeks after Mr. Reed bowed himself out of Whitehall. All England was shocked, and none more so than Sir Edward Reed himself.

ENGINEERING SCIENCE IN JAPAN.

JAPAN is said to be the hot-bed of perils innumerable to the white races of the world. The latest alarm, says the "Magazine of Commerce," seems to be the birth of a new mechanical science in Japan, which will relegate all our old-world machinery to the scrap heap, if we European engineers do not give ourselves a mental shake and educate ourselves up to the scientific standard of Japan in machinery. We must cease to "assume," for the sake of mere simplicity in calculation, propositions which are not mathematically and scientifically correct. The nursery of the new mechanical science is the College of Engineering of the Imperial-University of Tokio, and the sister college of Kyoto together with the Tokio Society of Mechanical Engineers, started in 1897. The papers read before these learned societies are very varied, ranging from the manufacture of tyres, street railways, compressed-air engines, teeth of wheels, water-tube boilers for the purposes of war, steam consumption of marine engines, and the solidification of metallic powders by pressure. It is the wealth of original ideas, the ingenuity displayed, the extensive tables, the original graphic diagrams. Mr. Tnokuty, Professor of Mechanical Engineering in the University, Tokyo, has more especially distinguished himself and benefited his country by the brilliant experiments and investigations he has recently made. In 1904, we find him proposing to regularise, by mathematical methods, the catalogue dimensions and trade reference numbers of standard lines of machinery and, secondly, to calculate the extra pressures caused in long pipes, such as those which feed turbines, by the sudden stoppage of the flow by the closing of a valve. In 1905, the University published a quarto volume of 300 pages, setting forth this brilliant mathematician and mechanician's investigations and tests of centrifugal pumps. The work is so complete, as regards applied theory, that it deserves to be accepted as a standard authority in Europe and America. Considered from the point of view of the applications of mathematics to a technical problem of great practical utility, Professor A. Tnokuty's paper deserves to rank as one of the greatest achievements ever attained in skilled calculation. The results of the tests on a 7 in. pump, designed and made in Tokyo are exceptionally good, and have probably not been equalled in Europe and America.

THE AGE OF REPTILES.

PROFESSION BOYD DAWKINS, lecturing on "Recent geological discoveries" in the Manchester Museum, had much to say in description of the skeleton Diplodocus recently presented by Mr. Andrew Carnegie to the King. The lecturer took his hearers back in imagination to a time in the world's history—in the secondary age—when the mammalia had not yet appeared, and when the globe was peopled with great reptile creatures kindred of the crocodile, the alligator, and the tortoise. In North America a large number of fossil remains of these secondary reptiles had been found. The Diplodocus and his kin were of aquatic habits, and lived in or near the enormous lakes which existed in those times in North America. Besides the herbivorous reptiles, there were great carnivorous reptiles which preyed upon them, as in the modern world the carnivorous tiger preys on the vegetable-eating elephant. There were reptiles which dwelt in the sea, and the air was inhabited by mighty bat-like reptiles, the span of whose wings measured more than 20 feet. Reptiles were masters of the world. The Professor told how gradually these bulky reptilian creatures were supplanted by the smaller and more intelligent mammals.

FRENCH SCHOOLS AND SCHOOLBOYS.

The French schools and lycees (writes our Paris correspondent) have gathered in their pupils again, and work for the winter has begun in most of the establishments which give themselves to the instruction of youth. Marcel Prevost, who much observes his fellows (more especially, no doubt, of the opposite sex) has discovered that the president generation of lyceen does not read—read, that is, he reviews green and mauve and blue of its fathers, but turns a restless and sportive eye upon the pages of journals devoted to out-door games. A new spirit is abroad clearly. At present the schools have not emancipated themselves from the old military traditions that have subsisted since the sixteenth century. The youth is treated as a soldier, and "marches" to the roll of drum or clang of bell. He is taught to obey, on his peril. It is an excellent system to breed the functionary; but the English method brings out the man. Many are coming to this conclusion, and reform is in the air. There are even audacious lycees where the pupils may bathe at least three times a year; but the bathroom is apt to be situated—in the infirmary. Still by falling ill, you can, presumably, bathe every day.

Worry and Anxiety

almost inevitably lead to a weakened and impoverished condition of the nervous systems These are forms of mental and nervous fatigue, and indicate that the nervous system is unequal to the demands made upon it by business responsibilities, social obligations, or professional duties. Such feelings give urgent and emphatic warning that the entire nervous system has become enfeebled, either as a consequence of nervous overstrain or owing to imperfect nutrition, resulting from physical illness or disorder.

Nervous Debility

of which worry and anxiety are such distressing symptoms, demands special treatment the nature of which is easily understood. If the body be weak it shows that fitting nourishment is required, and the same is equally true if the nervous system be weakened. It needs proper nutrition.

But how seldom the exhausted nervous system receives the right treatment. In many cases stimulants are resorted to, which give merely fictitious and temporary strength to the nerves, but actually leave them more weakened and worn out than before. If the nervous system be exhausted it really requires a remedy that will assist the nervous system to assimilate nourishment from the ordinary food, and will at the same time supply the vital nerve elements which are lost under the strain of overwork. Such a remedy is found in

Bishop's Tonules

A Nerve Nutrient not a Stimulant.

Bishop's Tonules are a thoroughly scientific preparation, free from harmful drugs and act directly upon the nerves, improving their nutrition, building up the worn away tissues, and restoring the impoverished nervous system to full health and vigour.

To understand how and why Bishop's Tonules do this it must be borne in mind that in nervous disorders generally the nerve and brain substance is worn away faster than it can be replaced. The nerves also lack the power to extract from the food taken the elements which they have lost, and until they can do this there can be no improvement in their exhausted condition.

The principal of these nervous disorders are as follows: Nervous and General Debility or Impaired Vitality, indicated by Lassitude, Fatigue, Want of Mental and Physical Energy, Weakened Will Power, Inability for Sustained Mental Effort, Irritability and Brain Fag, Nervous Exhaustion, Indecision and Lack of Confidence and "Pluck," Mental Depression, Worry and Anxiety, Forebodings, Morbidity and Melancholy, Neurasthenia, or a worn-out condition of the Nervous System generally, characterised by Headache, Vertigo, Muscular and Nervous Prostration, and Diminished Mental Powers.

There is no pretence that Bishop's Tonules do anything magical or extraordinary They simply supply those elements that are lacking, and supply them in such a form that they can be taken up easily and naturally by the nerves. Hence it is only reasonable to expect nerve restoration where they are used.

Obviously this takes time, just as an ill-nourished body cannot be built up in a day; but the result of a continued course of treatment by Bishop's Tonules will be the restoration of the nervous system to perfect health and strength.

The effects of the Tonule treatment may not be apparent immediately, but after a short time there is an improvement in the appetite, the assimilation of food is promoted, the liver stimulated, and the flow of bile increased. The various organs of the body all show improved activity and the building up of the tissues is hastened. The eyes grow brighter and the complexion more healthy. There is a tendency for thin subjects to gain flesh, while soft and flabby flesh becomes firm. In addition to all these evidences of the power of Bishop's Tonules, the symptoms of nervous debility and exhaustion gradually disappear, and it is only a question of time as to how long it will take for the whole nervous system to be restored to full strength.

Bishop's Tonules

A Fortnight's Treatment 2/9.

A letter has just been received from a gentleman in Hampshire in the following terms:—"I have now gone through a fortnight's course of Bishop's Tonules with great benefit. I was suffering from nevousness and depression, and these have almost disappeared, especially the latter. I took one Tonule with each of my three meals."

Bishop's Tonules are supplied in vials containing a fortnight's treatment, made by Alfred Bishop (Limited), Spelman-street, Mile End New Town, London, supplies may be obtained from your chemist or drug store for 2s. 9d. Alfred Bishop (Limited) are Manufacturing Chemists only, and have but one address.

Note There are two points we wish specially to emphasise. One is that it is supremely unwise to delay commencing the treatment with Bishop's Tonules if you recognise that you are suffering from nervous overstrain or nervous or brain exhaustion. Your condition will become worse, and you may have a serious breakdown as a result of your neglect. The other point is that Alfred Bishop are always pleased to give further information to any requiring it.

A SOLVED QUESTION.

THE QUESTION now-a-days among Smokers is, Why should Vafiadis' Cigarettes be s largely distributed ?

The answer is not far to seek.

It is because Vafiadis having had a life-long experience in Tobacco knows what is suitable for this peculiar climate of India, and it also is because their only intention is to satisfy their thousands of Customers by guaranteeing a new consignment of their Cigarettes every fourteen days.

To the above facts it is due that their Cigarettes are so highly praised and smoked by the throng, and are pronounced by connoisseurs to be superior to all others.

Liqueur Exquisite, Tonic, Digestive and Efficacious

BENEDICTINE

Possessing most Powerful Germ-killing Properties.

The BENEDICTINE liqueur is beneficial to health owing to its spirituous foundation being composed only of eau-de-vie (brandies) of the very purest quality.

Its principal characteristics may be summed up as follows :—

Distinctness of taste, richness of flavour and a delicious bouquet improving with age.

Moreover, the fact has never been disputed, that when diluted with cold water, the liqueur is possessed of great ANTIAPOPLECTIC (against apoplexy, sudden loss of sense and voluntary motions), APERIENT (slow purgative), DIGESTIVE and ANTISPASMODIC (against convulsions, qualities). REFRESHES and STRENGTHENS the nervous and tired brain marvellously, and works as a perfect boon to invalids and a blessing combined with luxury to mankind.

Many celebrated doctors and literary men both in France and other countries have given he liqueur the brilliant testimony of their appreciation, as may be seen by the following letters :—

* * * * Those of my readers who have confidence in my culinary recommendations, and I trust they are many, will do well to note that I prefer BENEDICTINE to all other liqueurs.

ALEXANDER DUMAS.

* * * * * At a time when the luxuries of the table are sought after on all sides, I do not hesitate to acknowledge and recommend BENEDICTINE as the queen of liqueurs, now to be seen on any table. It is found and appreciated alike in restaurants, in private families, and on the tables of princes.

H. DE PENE.

* * * * * We place BENEDICTINE upon our tables for its excellent flavour and delicate perfume, without thinking that this dainty is a powerful specific, a liqueur most efficacious for promoting digestion and the regular circulation of the blood.

TIMOTHEE TRIMM.

LIQUEUR BENEDICTINE.—Among the liqueurs invented or manufactured by the monks of France, the Benedictine from a hygienic point of view occupies the foremost rank. It is not only an exquisite and savory beverage for persons in good health, but in cases of illness or recovery it is equally beneficial. It may be used to advantage in all cases where Malaga, Madeira, Sherry, &c., are recommended.

The Benedictine is remarkable for its agreeable taste, and for its really salutary effects as a stomachic; and it is principally on this account that the liqueur should bear the motto "Moritur qui non utitur."

Extract from the "Gazette Medicale."

After meals we know of nothing more agreeable than a small glass or two of BENEDICTINE. It perfumes the breath, delights the palate, promotes digestion, and is a powerful aid to an inactive or overloaded stomach. During an epidemic, and for combating the evil effects of an impure atmosphere, its curative action is indisputable. At the beginning of last autumn we had occasion to appreciate the full value of this liqueur, and we are now happy to give it our highest praise.

DR. MALLET, M.D.

We place all our confidence in the hygienic properties of BENEDICTINE. Invalids and those who suffer from diseases of the respiratory organs, affections of the chests, headaches, congestion of brain, etc., and who cannot take other liqueurs, can safely make BENEDICTINE their favourite drink as a finish to their meals.

DR. ACHILLE PEQUEUR, M.D.

I consider your excellent liqueur invaluable to the old who so frequently suffer from indigestion and attacks of biliousness which often prove fatal. BENEDICTINE has long been well known to me, and it was with great readiness that I ordered our religious and my head resident doctor to administer it as a cordial according to your directions.
